IN CONGRESS, 29th MARCH, 1779

160006
CONGRESS judging it of the greatest importance to prescribe some invariable rules for the Order and Discipline of the Troops, especially for the purpose of introducing an uniformity in their formation and manœuvres, and in the service of the camp :

Ordered, That the following Regulations be observed by all the Troops of the United States, and that all general and other Officers cause the same to be executed with all possible exactness.

By Order,

JOHN JAY, President.

Attest,

CHARLES THOMPSON, Sec'y.

Extract of "An Act to Organize the Militia of the State of New-York." Passed 7th April, 1801.

AND be it further enacted, That the rules of discipline approved and established by Congress, in their resolution of the twenty-ninth of March, one thousand seven hundred and seventy-nine, shall be the rules of discipline to be observed by the Militia of this State except such deviations from the said rules as may be rendered necessary by the requisitions of this act, or by some other unavoidable circumstance. It shall be the duty of the commanding officer, at every muster, whether by battalion, regiment, or single company, to cause the Militia to be exercised and trained agreeably to the said rules of discipline.

REGULATIONS, &c.

CHAP. I.

Of the Arms and Accoutrements of the Officers, Non-commissioned Officers and Soldiers.

THE arms and accoutrements of the officers, non-commissioned officers, and soldiers, should be uniform throughout.

The officers who exercise their functions on horseback, are to be armed with swords, the platoon officers with swords and espontoons, the non-commissioned officers with swords, firelocks, and bayonets, and the soldiers with firelocks and bayonets.

CHAP. II.

Objects with which the Officers and Non-commissioned Officers should be acquainted.

THE officers and non-commissioned officers of each regiment, are to be perfectly acquainted with the manual exercise, marchings and firings, that they may be able to instruct their soldiers when necessary; they must also be acquainted with the dress, discipline, and police of the troops, and with every thing that relates to the service.

The commanding officer of each regiment is to be answerable for the general instruction of the regiment, and is to exercise, or cause to be exercised, the officers, non-commissioned officers, and soldiers whenever he thinks proper.

C H A P. III.

Of the Formation of a Company.

(Plate I. Figure 1.)

A COMPANY is to be formed in two ranks, at one pace distance, with the tallest men in the rear, and both ranks sized, with the shortest men of each in the centre. A company thus drawn up is to be divided into two sections or platoons; the captain to take post on the right of the first platoon, covered by a sergeant; the lieutenant on the right of the second platoon, also covered by a sergeant; the ensign four paces behind the centre of the company; the first sergeant two paces behind the centre of the first platoon, and the eldest corporal two paces behind the second platoon; the other two corporals are to be on the flanks of the first rank.

C H A P. IV.

Of the Formation of a Regiment.

(Plate I. Figure 2 and 3.)

A REGIMENT is to consist of eight companies, which are to be posted in the following order, from right to left.

First captain's.

Colonel's.

Fourth captain's.

Major's.

Third captain's.

Lieutenant colonel's:

Fifth captain's.

Second captain's.

For the greater facility in manœuvring, each regiment consisting of more than one hundred and sixty files, is to be formed in two battalions, (fig. 2.) with an interval of twenty paces between them, and one colour posted in the centre of each battalion; the colonel fifteen paces before the centre of the first battalion; the lieutenant-colonel fifteen paces before the centre of the second battalion; the major fifteen paces behind the interval of the two battalions; the adjutant two paces from the major; the drum and fife-major two paces behind the centre of the first battalion; their places behind the second battalion being supplied by a drum and fife; and the other drums and fifes equally divided on the wings of each battalion.

When a regiment is reduced to one hundred and sixty files, it is to be formed in one battalion, with both colours in the centre; the colonel sixteen paces before the colours; the lieutenant-colonel eight paces behind the colours; the major fifteen paces behind the centre of the battalion, having the adjutant at his side; the drum and fife major two paces behind the centre of the battalion; and the drums and fifes equally divided on the wings.

Every battalion, whether it compose the whole or only half of a regiment, is to be divided into four divisions and eight platoons; no platoon to consist of less than ten files; so that a regiment, consisting of less than eighty files, cannot form a battalion, but must be incorporated with some other, or employed on detachment.

In case of the absence of any field-officer, his place is to be filled by the officer next in rank in the regiment; and in order that the officers may remain with their respective companies, if any company officer is absent, his place shall be supplied by the officer next in rank in the same company; but should it happen that a company is left without an officer, the colonel or commanding officer may order an officer of another company to take the command, as well for the exercise as for the discipline and police of the company in camp.

When the light company is with the regiment it must be formed twenty paces on the right, on the parade, but must not interfere with the exercise of the battalion, but exercise by itself; and when the light infantry are embodied, every four companies will form a battalion, and exercise in the same manner as the battalion in the line.

C H A P. V.

Of the Instruction of Recruits.

THE commanding officer of each company is charged with the instruction of his recruits; and as that is a service that requires not only experience but a patience and temper not met with in every officer, he is to make choice of an officer, sergeant, and one or two corporals of his company, who, being approved of by the colonel, are to attend particularly to that business; but in case of the arrival of a great number of recruits, every officer without distinction is to be employed on that service.

The commanding officer of each regiment will fix on some place for the exercise of his recruits, where himself or some field-officer must attend, to overlook their instruction.

The recruits must be taken singly, and first taught to put on their accoutrements, and carry themselves properly.

The Position of a Soldier without Arms.

He is to stand straight and firm upon his legs, with the head turned to the right so far as to bring the left eye over the waistcoat buttons; the heels two inches apart; the toes turned out; the belly drawn in a little, but without constraint; the breast a little projected; the shoulders square to the front, and kept back; and the hands hanging down the sides, with the palms close to the thighs.

Attention !

At this word the soldier must be silent, stand firm and steady, moving neither hand nor foot, (except as ordered) but attend carefully to the words of command.

This attention of the soldier must be observed in the strictest manner, till he receives the word Rest !

At which he may refresh himself, by moving his hands or feet; but must not then sit down or quit his place, unless permitted so to do.

Attention !

At this word the soldier turns his head briskly to the left so as to bring his right eye in the direction of his waistcoat buttons.

To the Right—Dress !

The soldier dresses again to the right, as before.
The recruit must then be taught

The Facings.

To the right—Face ! Two motions.

- 1st. Turn briskly on both heels to the right, lifting up the toes a little, and describing the quarter of a circle.
- 2d. Bring back the right foot to its proper position without stamping.

To the Left—Face ! Two motions.

- 1st. Turn to the left as before to the right.
- 2d. Bring up the right foot to its proper position.

To the right about—Face ! Three motions.

- 1st. Step back with the right foot, bringing the buckle opposite the left heel, at the same time seizing the cartridge-box with the right hand.
- 2d. Turn briskly on both heels, and describe half a circle.
- 3d. Bring back the right foot, at the same time quitting the cartridge-box.

When the recruit is sufficiently expert in the foregoing points, he must be taught the different steps.

The Common Step

Is two feet, and about seventy-five in a minute.

To the Front—March !

The soldier steps off with his left foot, and marches a free, easy and natural step, without altering the position of his body or head, taking care to preserve a proper balance, and not cross his legs, but to march without constraint in every sort of ground : The officer must march sometimes in his front and sometimes at his side, in order to join example to precept.

Halt !

At this word the soldier stops short on the foot men advanced, immediately bringing up the other, without stamping.

The Quick Step

Is also two feet, but about one hundred and twenty in a minute, and is performed on the same principle as the other.

The recruits having been exercised singly, till they have a proper carriage, and are well grounded in the different steps; the officer will then take three men, and placing them in one rank, exercise them in the different steps, and teach them

The March by Files,

Which, being of great importance, must be carefully attended to; observing that the soldier carries his body more forward than in the front march, and that he does not increase the distance from his file-leader.

The Oblique Step

Must then be practised, both in the quick and common time.

In marching obliquely to the right, the soldier steps obliquely with the right foot, bringing up the left, and placing the heel directly before the toes of the right foot, and the contrary when marching to the left; at the same time observing to keep the shoulders square to the front, especially that the shoulder opposed to the side they march to does not project, and that the files keep close.

The recruits being thus far instructed, must be again taken separately and taught

The Position of a Soldier under Arms.

In this position the soldier is to stand straight and firm upon his legs, with the heels two inches apart, the toes a little turned out, the belly drawn in a little without constraint, the breast a little projected, the shoulders square to the front and kept back, the right hand hanging down the side, with the palm close to the thigh, the left elbow not turned out from the body, the firelock carried on the left shoulder, at such height that the guard will be just under the left breast, the fore-finger and thumb before the swell of the but, the three last fingers under the but, the flat of the but against the hip bone, and pressed so as that the firelock may be felt against the left side, and stand before the hollow of the shoulder, neither leaning towards the head nor from it, the barrel almost perpendicular. When exercising, he is to be very exact in counting a second of time between each motion.

The MANUAL EXERCISE.

I.

Poise—Firelock! Two motions.

- 1st. With your left hand turn the firelock briskly, bringing the lock to the front, at the same instant seize it with the right hand just below the lock, keeping the piece perpendicular.
- 2d. With a quick motion bring up the firelock from the shoulder directly before the face, and seize it with the left hand just above the lock, so that the little finger may rest upon the leather spring, and the thumb lie on the stock; the left hand must be of an equal height with the eyes.

II.

Cock—Firelock! Two motions.

- 1st. Turn the barrel opposite to your face, and place your thumb upon the cock, raising the elbow square at this motion.

- 2d. Cock the firelock by drawing down your elbow, immediately placing your thumb upon the breech-pin, and the fingers under the guard.

III.

Take—Aim ! One motion.

Step back about six inches with the right foot, bringing the left toe to the front ; at the same time drop the muzzle, and bring up the but end of the firelock against your right shoulder ; place the left hand forward on the swell of the stock, and the fore-finger of the right hand before the trigger ; sinking the muzzle a little below a level, and with the right eye looking along the barrel.

IV.

Fire ! One motion.

Pull the trigger briskly, and immediately after bringing up the right foot, come to the priming position, placing the heels even, with the right toe pointing to the right, the lock opposite the right breast, the muzzle directly to the front, and as high as the hat, the left hand just forward of the leather-spring, holding the piece firm and steady ; and at the same time seize the cock with the fore-finger and thumb of the right hand, the back of the hand turned up.

V.

Half-Cock—Firelock ! One motion.

Half bend the cock briskly, bringing down the elbow to the but of the firelock.

VI.

Handle—Cartridge ! One motion.

Bring your right hand short round to your pouch, flapping it hard, seize the cartridge, and bring it with a quick motion to your mouth, bite the top off down to the powder, covering it instantly with your thumb, and bring the hand as low as the chin, with the elbow down.

VII.

Prime ! One motion.

Shake the powder into the pan, and covering the cartridge again, place the three last fingers behind the hammer, with the elbow up.

VIII.

Shut—Pan ! Two motions.

- 1st. Shut your pan briskly, bringing down the elbow to the butt of the firelock, holding the cartridge fast in your hand.
- 2d. Turn the piece nimbly round before you to the loading position, with the lock to the front, and the muzzle at the height of the chin, bringing the right hand up under the muzzle; both feet being kept fast in this motion.

IX.

Charge with Cartridge ! Two motions.

- 1st. Turn up your hand and put the cartridge into the muzzle, shaking the powder into the barrel.
- 2d. Turning the stock a little towards you, place your right hand closed, with a quick and strong motion, upon the butt of the rammer, the thumb upwards, and the elbow down.

X.

Draw—Rammer ! Two motions.

- 1st. Draw your rammer with a quick motion half out, seizing it instantly at the muzzle back handed.

- 2d. Draw it quite out, turn it, and enter it into the muzzle.

XI.

Ram Down—Cartridge ! One motion.

Ram the cartridge well down the barrel, and instantly recovering and seizing the rammer back-handed by the middle, draw it quite out, turn it, and enter it as far as the lower pipe, placing at the same time the edge of the hand on the but-end of the rammer, with the finger extended.

XII.

Return—Rammer ! One motion.

Thrust the rammer home, and instantly bring up the piece with the left hand to the shoulder, seizing it at the same time with the right hand under the cock, keeping the left hand at the swell, and turning the body square to the front.

XIII.

Shoulder—Firelock ! Two motions.

- 1st. Bring down the left hand, placing it strong upon the but.
2d. With a quick motion bring the right hand down by your side.

XIV.

Order—Firelock ! Two motions.

- 1st. Sink the firelock with the left hand as low as possible, without constraint, and at the same time bringing up the right hand, seize the firelock at the left shoulder.
2d. Quit the firelock with the left hand, and with the right bring it down the right side, the but on the ground, even with the toes of the right foot, the thumb of the right hand lying along the barrel, and the muzzle being kept at a little distance from the body.

XV.

Ground—Firelock ! Two motions.

- 1st. With the right hand turn the firelock, bringing the lock to the rear, and instantly stepping forward with the left foot a large pace, lay the piece on the ground, the barrel in a direct line from front to rear, placing the left hand on the knee, to support the body, the head held up, the right hand and left heel in a line, and the right knee brought almost to the ground.
- 2d. Quitting the firelock, raise yourself up, and bring back the left foot to its former position.

XVI.

Take up—Firelock ! Two motions.

- 1st. Step forward with the left foot, sink the body, and come to the position described in the first motion of grounding.
- 2d. Raise up yourself and firelock, stepping back again with the left foot, and as soon as the piece is perpendicular, turn the barrel behind, thus coming to the order.

XVII.

Shoulder—Firelock ! Two motions.

- 1st. Bring the firelock to the left shoulder, throwing it up a little, and catching it below the tail-pipe, and instantly seize it with the left hand at the but.
- 2d. With a quick motion bring the right hand down by your side.

XVIII.

Secure—Firelock ! Three motions.

- 1st. Bring up the right hand briskly, and place it under the cock.
- 2d. Quit the but with the left hand, and seize the firelock at the swell, bringing the arm close down upon the lock, the right hand being kept fast in this motion, and the piece upright.
- 3d. Quitting the piece with your right hand, bring it down by your side, at the same time with your left hand, throw the muzzle directly forward, bringing it within about one foot of the ground, and the but close up behind the left shoulder, holding the left hand in a line with the waist belt, and with that arm covering the lock.

XIX.

Shoulder—Firelock ! Three motions.

- 1st. Bring the firelock up to the shoulder, seizing it with the right hand under the cock.
- 2d. Bring the left hand down strong upon the but.
- 3d. Bring the right hand down by your side.

XX.

Fix—Bayonets ! Three motions.

- 1st and 2d motions the same as the two first motions of the secure.
- 3d. Quitting the piece with your right hand, sink it with your left down the left side, as far as may be without constraint, at the same time seize the bayonet with the right hand, draw and fix it, immediately slipping the hand down to the stock, and pressing in the piece to the hollow of the shoulder.

XXI.

Shoulder—Firelock ! Three motions.

- 1st. Quitting the piece with the right hand, with the left bring it up to the shoulder, and seize it again with the right hand under the cock, as in the second motion of the secure.
- 2d. Bring the left hand down strong upon the butt.
- 3d. Bring the right hand down by your side.

XXII.

Present—Arms ! Three motions.

- 1st and 2d motions the same as in coming to the poise.
- 3d. Step briskly back with your right foot, placing it a hand's breadth distant from your left heel, at the same time bring down the firelock as quick as possible to the rest, sinking it as far down before your left knee as your right hand will permit without constraint, holding the right hand under the guard, with the fingers extended, and drawing in the piece with the left hand till the barrel is perpendicular ; during this motion you quit the piece with the left hand, and instantly seize it again just below the tail-pipe.

XXIII.

Shoulder—Firelock ! Two motions.

- 1st. Lift up your right foot and place it by your left, at the same time bring the firelock to your left shoulder, and seize the butt-end with the left hand, coming to the position of the first motion of the secure.
- 2d. Bring the right hand down by your side.

XXIV.

Charge Bayonet !—Two motions.

- 1st. The same as the first motion of the secure.

- 2d. Bring the but of the firelock under the right arm, letting the piece fall down strong on the palm of the left hand, which receives it at the swell, the muzzle pointing directly to the front, the but pressed with the arm against the side; the front rank holding their pieces horizontally, and the rear rank the muzzles of theirs so high as to clear the heads of the front rank, both ranks keeping their feet fast.

XXV.

Shoulder Firelock ! Two motions.

- 1st. Bring up the piece smartly to a shoulder, seizing the but with the left hand.
2d. Bring the right hand down by your side.

XXVI.

Advance—Arms ! Four motions.

- 1st and 2d the same as the two first motions of the poise.
3d. Bring the firelock down to the right side, with the right hand as low as it will admit without constraint, slipping up the left hand at the same time to the swell, and instantly shifting the position of the right hand, take the guard between the thumb and fore-finger, and bring the three last fingers under the cock, with the barrel to the rear.
4th. Quit the firelock with the left hand, bringing it down by your side.

XXVII.

Shoulder—Firelock ! Four motions.

- 1st. Bring up the left hand, and seize the firelock at the swell; instantly shifting the right hand to its former position.

2d. Come smartly up to a poise..

3d. and 4th. Shoulder.

Explanation of Priming and Loading, as performed in the Firings.

Prime and Load !—Fifteen motions.

- 1st. Come to the recover, throwing up your firelock, with a smart spring of the left hand, directly before the left breast, and turning the barrel inwards; at that moment catch it with the right hand below the lock, and instantly bringing up the left hand, with a rapid motion, seize the piece just above the lock, the little finger touching the leather-spring; the left hand to be at an equal height with the eyes, the butt of the firelock close to the left breast, but not pressed, and the barrel perpendicular.
- 2d. Bring the firelock down with a brisk motion to the priming position, as directed in the 4th word of command, instantly placing the thumb of the right hand against the face of the steel, the fingers clenched, and the elbow a little turned out, that the wrist may be clear of the cock.
- 3d. Open the pan by throwing back the steel with a strong motion of the right arm, keeping the firelock steady in the left hand.
- 4th. Handle cartridge.
- 5th. Prime.
- 6th. Shut pan.
- 7th. Cast about.
- 8th. and 9th. Load.
- 10th. and 11th. Draw rammer.
- 12th. Ram down cartridge.
- 13th. Return rammer.
- 14th. and 15th. Shoulder.

N. B. The motion of recover, coming down to the priming position, and opening the pan, to be done in the usual time, the motions of handling the cartridge to the shutting the pan, to be done as quick as possible; when the pans are shut, make a small pause, and cast about together; then the loading and shouldering motions are to be done as quick as possible.

Position of each Rank in the Firings.

Front rank ! Make ready ! One motion.

Spring the firelock briskly to a recover, as soon as the left hand seizes the firelock above the lock, the right elbow is to be nimbly raised a little, placing the thumb of that hand upon the cock, the fingers open by the plate of the lock, and as quick as possible cock the piece, by dropping the elbow, and forcing down the cock with the thumb, immediately seizing the firelock with the right hand, close under the lock; the piece to be held in this manner perpendicular, opposite to the left side of the face, the body kept straight, and as full to the front as possible, and the head held up, looking well to the right.

Take Aim ! Fire !

As before explained.

The rear rank ! Make ready ! One motion.

Recover and cock as before directed, at the same time stepping about six inches to the right, so as to place yourself opposite the interval of the front rank.

Take Aim ! Fire !

As before explained.

The recruits being thus far instructed, the officer must take twelve men, and placing them in one rank, teach them to dress to the right and left ; to do which the soldier must observe to feel the man on that side he dresses to, without crowding him, and to advance or retire, till he can just discover the breast of the second man from him, taking care not to stoop, but to keep his head and body upright.

When they can dress pretty well, they must be taught to wheel, as follows :

To the Right—Wheel !

At this word of command, the men turn their heads briskly to the left, except the left hand man.

March !

The whole step off, observing to feel the hand they wheel to, without crowding ; the right hand man, serving as a pivot for the rest to turn on, gains no ground, but turns on his heels ; the officer will march on the flank, and when the wheeling is finished, command,

Halt !

On which the whole stop short on the foot then forward, bringing up the other foot, and dressing to the right.

To the Left—Wheel !

The whole continue to look to the right, except the right hand man, who looks to the left.

March !

As before explained.

N. B. The wheelings must first be taught in the common step, and then practised in the quick step.

When the recruits have practised the foregoing exercises, till they are sufficiently expert, they must be sent to exercise with their company.

C H A P. VI.

The Exercise of a Company.

ARTICLE I.

Of opening the Ranks.

Rear Rank ! Take—Distance !

March !

THE rear rank steps back four paces, and dresses by the right ; the officers at the same time advancing eight paces to the front, and dressing in a line ; the serjeants who covered the officers, take their places in the front rank ; the non-commissioned officers who were in the rear, remain there, stepping back four paces behind the rear rank.

Rear Rank ! Close to the Front !

The officers face to the company.

March !

The rear rank closes to within a common pace, or two feet ; and the officers return to their former posts.

ARTICLE II.

Of the Firings.

The captain will divide his company into two or more sections, and teach them the fire by platoons, as directed in chap. XIII. art. 1, 2.

The officers must give the words of command with a loud and distinct voice ; observe that the soldiers step off, and place their feet, as directed in the manual exercise ; and that they level their pieces at a proper height ; for which purpose they must be accustomed always to take sight at some object.

The Officer will often command, As you were ! to accustom the soldier not to fire till he receives the word of command :

In all exercises in detail the men will use a piece of wood, instead of a flint : and each soldier should have six pieces of wood, in the form of cartridges, which the serjeant must see taken out of the pieces when the exercise is finished. When the company exercises with powder, the captain will inspect the company, and see that all the cartridges not used are returned.

ARTICLE III.

Of the March.

In marching to the front, the men must be accustomed to dress to the centre, which they will have to do when exercising in battalion ; and for this purpose a serjeant must be placed six paces in front of the centre, who will take some object in front to serve as a direction for him to march straight forward ; and the men must look inwards, and regulate their march by him.

The captain must exercise his company in different sorts of ground ; and when, by the badness of the ground, or by any other accident, the soldier loses his step, he must immediately take it again from the serjeant in the centre. The officers must not suffer the least inattention, but punish every man guilty of it.

The Oblique March

Must be practised both in the quick and common step, agreeably to the instructions already given.

The March by Files

Is as important as difficult. In performing it, the officers must be attentive that the soldiers bend their bodies a little forward, and do not open their files.

The leading file will be conducted by the officer ; who will post himself for that purpose on its left, when they march by the right, and the contrary when they march by the left.

The Counter March.

Note. This march must never be executed by larger portions of a battalion than platoons.

Caution.

Take care to counter march from the Right, by Platoons !

To the Right—face ! March !

The whole facing to the right, each platoon wheels by files to the right about ; and when the right hand file gets on the ground where the left stood, the officer orders, and the company will be formed with their front changed.

ARTICLE IV.

Of Wheeling.

The captain will exercise his company in wheeling entire, and by sections or platoons, both in the common and quick step, taking care that the men in the rear rank incline a little to the right or left, according to the hand they wheel to, so as always to cover exactly their file-leaders.

ARTICLE V.

Of Breaking off, and Forming by the oblique Step.

" The captain having divided his company into two sections, will give the word, Sections—Break off!

Upon which the section on the right inclines by the oblique step to the left, and that on the left, following the former, inclines to the right, till they cover each other, when they march forward.

Form Company!

The first section inclines to the right, shortening its step, and the second to the left, lengthening its step, till they are uncovered, when both march forward, and form in a line.

Two or more companies may be joined to perform the company exercise, when they have been sufficiently exercised by single companies, but not till then; the inattention of the soldiers, and difficulty of instructing them, increasing in proportion with the numbers.

C H A P. VII.

Exercise of a Battalion.

WHEN a battalion parades for exercise, it is to be formed, and the officers posted, agreeably to the instructions already given in the third and fourth chapters.

The battalion being formed, it is then to perform the manual exercise, and the wheelings, marches, manœuvres and firings described in this and the following chapters, or such of them as shall be ordered.

N. B. When a battalion performs the firings, the six centre files (viz. three on each side the colours) are not to fire, but remain as a reserve for the colours; and the officers of the two centre platoons are to warn them accordingly.

The battalion will wheel by divisions or platoons, by word of command from the officer commanding,

By { Platoons ! } To the { Right ! } Wheel !
 { Divisions ! } { Left ! }
 March !

When the battalion wheels, the platoons are conducted by the officers commanding them; the supernumeraries remaining in the rear of their respective platoons.

[See plate I. Figure 4 and 5.]

The colours take post between the fourth and fifth platoons.

The wheeling finished, each officer commanding a platoon or division, commands, and posts himself before the centre, the serjeant who covered him taking his place on the right.

Halt ! Dress to the Right !

Forward—March !

The whole step off, and follow the leading division or platoon; the officer who conducts the column receiving his directions from the commanding officer. When the battalion wheels to the right, the left flank of the platoons must dress in a line with each other, and the contrary when they wheel to the left.

Battalion ! Halt !

By Platoons ! To the Left—Wheel ! March !

The wheeling finished, each officer commanding a platoon or division, orders dresses his platoon, and takes post in the interval, the battalion being now formed in a line.

Halt ! Dress to the Right !

C H A P. VIII.

Of the Points of View.

THE use of these is a most essential part in the manœuvres, which without them, cannot be executed with facility or precision. They are usually some distant objects (the most conspicuous that can be found) chosen by the commanding officer, to determine the direction of his line, which otherwise would be mere hazard.

The commanding officer having determined on the direction of his line, and his points of view B C, sends out two officers, D E, to seek two intermediate points in the same line ; the officer E advances ; when D finds him in the direct line between himself and the point of view B, he advances, taking care to keep E always between him and the point B, which he must do by making him signals to advance or retire ; when E finds D in the direct line between him and C, he makes him the signal to halt, and they will find themselves in the intermediate points D E.

C H A P. IX.

Of the Formation and Displaying of Columns, with the Method of Changing Front.

ARTICLE I.

*The close Column formed on the Ground by the

Caution by the Commanding Officer.

Take Care to form Column by Platoons by the Right ! the Right in Front !

To the Right—Face !

THE whole face to the right, except the right platoon ; at the same time the leading file of each platoon breaks off, in order to march in the rear of its preceding platoon.

March !

The whole step off with the quick step, each platoon marching close in the rear of that preceding it, to its place in the column.

The officers commanding platoons, when they perceive their leading file dressed with that of the platoon already formed, command and the platoon fronts and dresses to the right.

ARTICLE II.

*Display of a Column formed by the Right, the

Caution by the Commanding Officer.Take Care to display Column to the Left!

The officers commanding platoons go to the left, in order to conduct them.

To the Left—Face!

The whole face to the left, except the front platoon.

March!

The platoons faced, step off, and march obliquely to their places in the line; when the second platoon has gained its proper distance, its officer commands.

Halt! Front! To the Right—Dress!

dresses his platoon with that already formed, and takes his post on the right: the other platoons form in the same manner.

This is formed in the same manner as the preceding column, only facing and marching to the left instead of the right. The officers will conduct their platoons, and having dressed them, return to their posts on the right.

ARTICLE IV.Display of a Column formed by the Left, the Left in Front.

[Plate II: Figure 3.]

This column is usually displayed to the right, on the same principles as the column formed to the right is displayed to the left.

ARTICLE V.

The close Column formed on the Centre, or Fifth Platoon, the Right in Front.

Take Care to form Column on the fifth Platoon, the Right in Front!

To the Right and Left—Face!

The fifth platoon stands fast; the others face to the centre; the officers post themselves at the head of their platoons, and break off; and on receiving the word, conduct them to their posts in the column; the four platoons on the right forming in the front, and the three platoons on the left forming in the rear of the fifth platoon.

March!

When this column is to be formed with the left in front, the four platoons on the right form in the rear, and the three on the left form in front.

In all formations and displayings, the officers whose platoons march by the left, so soon as they have dressed their platoons in the line or column, return to their posts on the right.

ARTICLE VI.

*Display of a Column having the Right in Front;
from the Centre, or fifth Platoon.*

[Plate II. Figure 5.]

Take Care to display Column from the Centre !

At this caution the officer of the platoon in front posts a serjeant on each flank of it, who are to remain there till the platoon on which the column displays, has taken its post in the line, when they retire along the rear of the battalion to their platoon.

To the Right and Left—Face !

The four front platoons face to the right, the fifth stands fast, and the sixth, seventh and eighth face to the left.

March !

The four platoons of the right march to the right, the first platoon taking care to march straight towards the point of view ; so soon as the fourth platoon has unmasked the fifth, its officer commands,

Halt ! Front ! March !

and it marches up to its post in the line ; the third and second platoon, as soon as they have respectively gained their distances, proceed in the same manner ; and then the first halts and dresses with them ; the fifth platoon in the mean time marches to its post between the two serjeants ; and the three platoons of the left form by marching obliquely to their posts in the line, as before explained.

ARTICLE VII.

When a column is formed by the right, and the nature of the ground will not permit its being displayed to the left, it may be displayed to the right in the following manner :

Caution:

Take Care to display Column to the Right !

The two serjeants are to be posted, as before, on the flanks of the front platoon.

To the Right—Face !

The eighth platoon stands fast, the rest face to the right, and march; the first platoon keeping the line ; so soon as the eighth platoon is unmasked, it marches forward to its post between the two serjeants of the first platoon left there for that purpose ; the seventh platoon, having gained its distance, halts, fronts and marches up to its ground ; the other platoons proceed in the same manner as explained in the display from the centre.

ARTICLE VIII.

This is performed on the same principles as the display of the column in the seventh article.

A column formed either by the right, left or contre, may, according to the ground, or any other circumstance, be displayed on any particular platoon on the principles before explained.

ARTICLE IX.

Open Columns

Are formed by wheeling to the right or left by platoons; and, when indispensably necessary, by marching the platoons by files, in the following manner:

Caution.

Take Care to form open Columns by the Right!

[Plate III. Figure 3.]

To the Right—Face!

The right platoon stands fast, the rest face to the right, and break off to the rear.

March!

Each platoon marches to its place in the column, the officers taking care to preserve the proper distances between their platoons.

Open columns may in the same manner be formed by the left, centre, or on any particular platoon, the officers taking care to preserve their proper distances.

[Plate III. Figure 4.]

Open columns are formed again in line, either by wheeling by platoons, or by closing column and displaying, as explained in the articles on close columns.

If the commanding officer chooses to close the open columns, he will command

Close—Column ! March !

On which the platoons march by the quick step, and close to within two paces of each other ; when the commanding officer of platoons successively command and the column is closed.

Halt ! Dress to the Right !

When the commanding officer chooses to open a close column, he commands, Open—Column !

On which the front platoon advances, followed by the others successively, as fast as they have their distances.

The different manners of forming and displaying columns being the basis of all manœuvres, require the greatest attention of both officers and men in the execution. The officers must, by frequent practice, learn to judge of distances with the greatest exactness ; as an augmentation or diminution of the proper distance between the platoons is attended with much confusion in forming a line. They must also be very careful not to advance beyond the line, in forming battalion, but dress their platoons carefully with the points of view.

ARTICLE X.

Of changing the Front of a Line.

The changing the front of a platoon, division, or even a battalion, may be performed by a simple wheeling ; that of a brigade must be performed by first forming the open column, then marching it into the direction required, and forming the line.

If it be necessary to change the front of a line consisting of more than a brigade, the simplest and surest method is to form close columns, either by brigades or battalions, march them to the direction required, and display.

CHAP. X.

Of the March of Columns.

THE march of columns is an operation so often repeated, and of so much consequence, that it must be considered as an essential article in the instruction of both officers and men.

ARTICLE I.

The march of an open Column.

Column ! March !

The whole column must always begin to march, and halt, at the same time, and only by order of the commanding officer. After the first twenty paces he should command,

Support—Arms !

When the men may march more at their ease, but keeping their files close. Before the column halts, he should command, Carry—Arms ! Column ! Halt !

Dress to the Right !

When marching in open column, the officer commanding will often form battalion, by wheeling to the right or left, in order to see if the officers have preserved the proper distances between the platoons.

ARTICLE II.

Columns changing the Direction of their March.

When a close column is obliged to change the direction of its march, the front platoon must not wheel round on its flank, but advance in a direction more or less circular, according to the depth of the column, that the other platoons may follow.

[Plate IV. Figure I.]

An open column changes the direction of its march by wheeling the front platoon, the others following : in doing which, the officers commanding platoons must be particularly careful that their platoons wheel on the same ground with the front platoon ; for which purpose a serjeant should be left to mark the pivot on which they are to wheel.

ARTICLE III.

Passage of a Defile by a Column.

A column on its march coming to a defile, which obliges it to diminish its front, the officer commanding the first platoon commands,

Break off !

On which those files which cannot pass, break off, face inwards, and follow their platoon by files ; and as the defile narrows or widens, more files will break off, or join the platoon : The succeeding platoons proceed in the same manner.

If the defile is difficult or long, so soon as the front have passed and gained sufficient ground, they will halt till the whole have passed and formed, when they will continue the march.

ARTICLE IV.

A Column crossing a Plain, liable to be attacked by Cavalry.

When the commanding officer thinks himself in danger of being attacked by cavalry, he must close the column, and on their approach, halt and face outwards; the front platoon standing fast, the rear platoon going to the right about, and the others facing outwards from their centres.

In case of attack, the two first ranks keep up a smart running fire, beginning as well as ending by a signal from the drum.

The soldiers must be told, that under these circumstances, their safety depends wholly on their courage; the cavalry being only to be dreaded when the infantry cease to resist them.

When the column is to continue its march, the officer commands, Column! To the Front—Face! March!

The platoons face to the front, and march.

ARTICLE V.

A Column marching by its Flank.

If the column marches by the left, the officers go to the left of their respective platoons.

March!

The column marches, dressing by the right.

Column! Halt! Front!

The column faces to the front.

C H A P. XI.

Of the March in Line.

ARTICLE I.

The March to the Front.Battalion ! Forward !

AT this caution the ensign with the colours advances six paces; the sergeant who covered him taking his place. The whole are to dress by the colors. The commandant of the battalion will be posted two paces in front of the colors, and will give the ensign an object to serve as a direction for him to march straight forward.

March !

The ensign who carries the colors will be careful to march straight to the object given him by the colonel; to do which, he must fix on some intermediate object.

If many battalions are in the line, the ensigns must dress by the ensign in the centre; if only two, they will dress by each other. They must be very careful not to advance beyond the battalion they are to dress by, it being much easier to advance than to fall back.

Should a battalion by any cause be hindered from advancing in line with the rest, the ensign of that battalion must drop his colors as a signal to the other battalions (who might otherwise stop to dress by them) not to conform to their movements; the colors to be raised again when the battalion has advanced to its post in the line.

The commanding officer of each battalion must be careful that his men dress and keep their files close, and to preserve the proper distances between his own battalion and those on his flanks ; and when he finds that he is too near the one or the other, must command,

Obliquely—To the $\left\{ \begin{array}{l} \textit{Right !} \\ \textit{Left !} \end{array} \right.$

When the battalion will march by the oblique step, as ordered, till they have recovered their distance, and receive the command, Forward !

Upon which the battalion will march forward, and the ensign take a new object to march to.

If the distance is augmented or diminished only two or three paces, the commanding officer will order the colors to incline a little, and then march forward ; the battalion conforming to their movement.

The officers commanding platoons will continually have an eye over them, immediately remedying any defect, carefully dressing with the centre, and keeping step with the colors.

The officers in the rear must take care of the second rank, remedying any defect in a low voice, and with as little noise as possible.

The soldier must not advance out of the rank the shoulder opposite the side he dresses to ; he must not crowd his right or left hand man, but give way to the pressure of the centre, and resist that of the wings ; he must have his eyes continually fixed on the colors, turning his head more or less, in proportion to his distance from them.

Battalion ! Halt !

The whole stop short on the feet then advanced.

Dress to the Right !

The men dress to the right, and the colors fall back into the ranks.

ARTICLE II.

Of the Charge with Bayonets.

The line marching, the commanding officer, on approaching the enemy, commands,

March ! March !

On which the whole advance by the quick step.

Charge—Bayonet !

The line charge their bayonets, and quicken their step ; the drums beat the long roll ; and the officers and men must take care to dress to the centre, and not crowd or open their files.

Battalion ! Slow Step !

The battalion fall into the slow step, and carry their arms.

Halt ! Dress to the Right !

The battalion halts and dresses to the right.

ARTICLE III.

Method of passing any Obstacle in Front of a Line.

When an obstacle presents itself before any division, platoon, or number of files, the officer commanding the platoons, &c. commands, Break off !

On which the files obstructed face outwards from their centre, and follow by files the platoons on their right and left ; if the platoons on the wings are obstructed, they will face inwards; and follow in the same manner.

In proportion as the ground permits, the files will march up to their places in front, dress, and take step with the colors.

ARTICLE IV.

Passage of a Defile in Front, by Platoons.

A battalion marching and meeting with a bridge or defile, over or through which not more than the front of a division can pass at a time, the commanding officer orders, and then to the two platoons before whom the defile presents itself,

Halt !

March !

On which they pass the defile in one division. As soon as those two platoons have marched, the commanding officer orders,

The platoons on the right face to the left, and those on the left face to the right.

March !

They march till they join, fronting the defile ; when the commanding officer of the two platoons commands, and they pass the defile, the rest following in the same manner.

Halt ! Front ! March !

As soon as the front division has passed, it will halt ; and the other divisions, as fast as they arrive in the rear, face outwards, and march by files till they come to their proper places in battalion ; when the officers commanding the platoons order, and the platoons dress in line with those already formed.

Halt ! Front ! Dress !

ARTICLE V.

Passage of a Defile in Front, by Files.

If the defile will not permit more than four files to pass, the four files before which the defile presents itself, enter without any word of command; the rest face inwards, and follow them; the whole marching through by files.

As soon as the files which first entered have passed, they halt; the others, as fast as they pass, marching to their places in battalion.

ARTICLE VI.

Of the March in Retreat.Battalion! To the Right about—Face!

The whole face to the right about; the officers keeping their posts.

Forward—March!

The colors advance six paces, and the whole step off, dressing by them.

The passage of any obstacle in retreat, is the same as in the march to the front.

ARTICLE VII.

Passage of a Defile in Retreat, by Platoons.

If it is at any time necessary to pass a defile in the rear, in presence of an enemy, the line must march as near as possible to the defile; when the commanding officer orders,

To the Front—Face!From the Wings—By Platoons—Pass the Defile in the Rear!

The two platoons on the wings face outwards.

March !

The two platoons wheel by files, and march along the rear of the battalion to the entrance of the defile, where joining, their officers command,

Halt ! To the { Right, } Face !
Left, }

The platoon of the right wing faces to the left ; the other platoon faces to the right ; and both pass in one division ; the other platoons following in the same manner, except those of the centre.

When all have entered but the two centre platoons, that on the right faces to the right about, and marches twenty paces into the defile ; when the officer commands, Halt ! To the Right about—Face !

The officer of the other platoon, when he sees them faced, will retire in the same manner ; and having passed twenty paces beyond the platoon halted in the defile, comes also to the right about ; they continuing in this manner to cover each other's retreat till they have passed, when they face to the front, and cover the defile.

The three platoons of the right wing wheel to the left ; those of the left wing wheel to the right, and having gained their proper distances, the commanding officer orders,

The right wing wheels to the left, and the left to the right ; which forms the battalion.

If the defile should present itself behind any other part of the battalion, the platoons farthest off must always retreat first ; and if the defile becomes narrower than at the entrance, the platoons must double behind each other.

ARTICLE VIII.

Passage of a Defile in Retreat, by Files.

This manœuvre is performed in the same manner as the preceding, except that, instead of forming at the entrance, the platoons pass by files ; and having passed, face to the right and left, march till they have their proper distances, and then wheel and form battalion.

The passage of defiles may be executed at first in common step, for the instruction of the troops in service, always in the quick step.

The passage of defiles being difficult in presence of an enemy, the officers must be particularly careful to keep the files closed ; to be quick in giving the words of command, and not lose any time in the execution.

This manœuvre should always be covered by troops posted on each side the defile, and on every advantageous piece of ground that presents itself, to annoy and keep back the enemy.

ARTICLE IX.

Method of passing the Front Line to the Rear.

The first line being obliged to retreat, will face to the right about, and retire in line.

The second line, if not already formed in columns, will immediately, on perceiving the first line retire, form in that order by brigades or battalions ; and the first line having passed the intervals between the columns, the second line will display ; or, if too closely pressed by the enemy, attack in columns the flanks of the battalions which pursue, thereby giving time for the first line to form and take a new position.

C H A P. XII.

Of the Disposition of the Field-Pieces attached to the Brigades.

THE field-pieces attached to the different brigades must always remain with them, encamping on their right, unless the quarter-master-general thinks proper to place them on any advantageous piece of ground in front.

When the army marches by the right, the field-piece must march at the head of their respective brigades; when it marches by the left, they follow in the rear, unless circumstances determine the general to order otherwise; but, whether they march in front, centre or rear of their brigades, they must always march between the battalions, and never between the platoons.

In manœuvring they must also follow their brigades, performing the manœuvres and evolutions with them; observing, that when the close column is formed, they must always proceed to the flank of the column opposed to that side their brigade is to display to; and on the column's displaying, they follow the first division of their brigade; and when that halts and forms, the field-pieces immediately take their posts on its right.

C H A P. XIII.

Of the Firings.

WHEN the troops are to exercise with powder, the officers must carefully inspect the arms and cartridge boxes, and take away all the cartridges without ball.

The first part of the general will be the signal for all firing to cease ; on the beating of which the officers and non-commissioned officers must see that their platoons cease firing, load and shoulder as quick as possible. The commanding officer will continue the signal till he sees that the men have loaded and shouldered.

ARTICLE I.

Firing by Battalion.

Caution.

Take Care to Fire by Battalion !

Battalion ! Make ready ! Take Aim ! Fire !

If there be more than one battalion to fire, they are to do it in succession from right to left ; but after the first round, the odd battalions fire so soon as the respective battalions on their left begin to shoulder ; and the even battalions fire when the respective battalions on their right begin to shoulder.

ARTICLE II.

Firing by Divisions and Platoons.

Caution.

Take Care to fire by Divisions !

Division ! Make ready ! Take Aim ! Fire !

They fire in the same order as is prescribed for battalions in Article 1.

The firing by platoons is also executed in the same order in the wings of the battalion, beginning with the right of each, that is, the first and fifth platoons give the first fire, the second and sixth the second fire, the third and seventh the third fire, and the fourth and eighth the fourth fire ; after which they fire as before prescribed.

ARTICLE III.

Firing Advancing.

The battalion advancing receives the word,

Battalion ! Halt !

Take Care to fire by Divisions !

They fire as before.

ARTICLE IV.

Firing Retreating.

When a battalion is obliged to retire, it must march as long as possible ; but if pressed by the enemy, and obliged to make use of its fire, the commanding officer will order,

Battalion ! Halt !

To the Right about—Face !

and fire by battalion, division or platoon, as before directed.

C H A P. XIV.

Of the March of an Army or Corps.

THE greatest attention on the part of the officers is necessary at all times, but more particularly on a march. The soldiers being then permitted to march at their ease, with the ranks and files open, without the greatest care, these get confounded one with another ; and if suddenly attacked, instead of being able to form immediately in order of battle, the whole line is thrown into the utmost confusion.

The order for the march of an army being given, the adjutant general will appoint the field officers for the advanced and rear guards, and issue orders to the brigade majors to have ready their respective quotas of other officers and men for the advanced guard, which will consist of the number necessary for the guards of the new camp. These, together with a poineer of each company, and a sergeant from the regiment to conduct them, must be warned the evening before.

At the beating of the general, the troops are immediately to strike their tents, and load the waggons, which must then fall into the line of march for the baggage.

At this signal also all general and staff officers' guards, and those of the commissaries, must return to their respective regiments.

At the beating of the assembly, the troops will assemble, and be formed in battalion on their respective parades.

The guards ordered, must then be conducted by the brigade majors, or adjutants of the day, to the rendezvous appointed for the advanced guard, where the field officers warned for that duty, will form them in battalions, or other corps, according to their strength, and divide them regularly into divisions and platoons. The officer commanding the advanced guard, must take care to have a guide with him, and to get every necessary information of the road.

The camp guards must at the same time retire to the rendezvous appointed for the rear guard, where they must be formed in the same manner.

At the same time also the quarter-masters and poineers of each battalion must assemble on the ground appointed by the advanced guard, where one of the deputies of the quarter-master-general must form them in platoons, in the same order as their respective battalions march in the column.

Each detachment will be conducted by its quarter-master, who must be answerable that it marches in the order prescribed ; and the quarter-masters of brigades will conduct those of their respective brigades, and be answerable for their behavior.

The signal for marching being given, the whole will wheel by platoons or sections, as shall be ordered, and begin the march.

The advanced guard will march at a distance from the main body proportioned to its strength, having a patrol advanced ; and must never enter any defile, wood, &c. without having first examined it, to avoid falling into an ambuscade.

The pioneers are to march behind the advanced guard, and must repair the roads, that the column may be obliged to file off as little as possible.

The advanced guard, besides its patrols in front, must have a flank guard, composed of a file from each platoon, and commanded by an officer, or non-commissioned officer, to march at the distance of one hundred paces on the flank, and keep up with the head of the advanced guard.

If it be necessary to have a flank guard on each side, a file must be sent from the other flank of each platoon to compose it ; and as this service is fatiguing, the men should be relieved every hour. The like flank guards are to be detached from each battalion in the column.

For the greater convenience of the soldiers, the ranks must be opened to half distance during the march.

When the column meets with a defile, or any obstacle, the commanding officer must stop till the column has passed it, taking care that they pass in as great order, and as quick as possible ; and when one have marched through, he must command the front to halt, till the whole have passed and formed, when he will continue the march.

When a column crosses a road that leads to the enemy, the patrols or guards on the flanks of the first battalion, must form on the road, and halt till the patrols of the next battalion come up, which must do the same; the others proceed in the same manner, till the whole have passed.

When the commanding officer thinks proper to halt on the march, immediately on the column's halting, the advanced flank and rear guards must form a chain of sentinels, to prevent the soldiers from straggling; and all necessaries, as wood, water, &c. must be fetched by detachments, as in camp.

On the beating the long roll, the whole are to form and continue the march.

On the march no orders are to be communicated by calling out, but must be sent by the adjutants, from regiment to regiment. The signals for halting, marching slower and quicker, must be given by beat of drum. (See Chap. XXI.)

The commanding officer of the advanced guard being informed by the quarter-master-general, or his deputy, the ground the troops are to encamp on, will go a head and reconnoitre it; and immediately on the arrival of the advanced guard, post his guards and sentinels, as directed in Chapter XXII.

March by Sections of Four.

The roads being very often too narrow to admit the front of a platoon, and the troops being therefore continually obliged to break off, which fatigues the men; to prevent this, when the road is not sufficiently large throughout, the battalions may be divided into sections in the following manner:

Each platoon is to be told off into sections of four files; if there remain three files, they form a section; if two files or less, they form one rank. At the word,

By Sections of Four!

E

To the Right—Wheel ! March !

they wheel by fours and march, the second rank of each section taking two paces distance from the front rank. The officers commanding platoons take post in the left of their first section ; but on the right, if the sections wheel to the left. The file-closers fall in on the flanks.

The officers must take great care that the distance of two paces, and no more, is kept between the ranks. At the word, the front rank of each section stops short, and the second rank closes up, which gives the proper distance between the sections ; and by wheeling to the right or left, the line is formed : or, if the commanding officer chooses, he may form platoons by the oblique step.

Halt !

If a column be already on the march by platoons, and the road becomes too narrow and inconvenient to continue in that order, it may be formed into sections of four, in the following manner :

Caution by the commanding officer.Take Care to break off by Sections of Four !

Upon which the officers commanding platoons tell them off as before, but without halting.

At the word,

Sections of Four ! Break off !

the sections on the right of each platoon incline by the oblique step to the left ; and those on the left of each platoon following the former, incline to the right, till they all cover ; when they march forward, opening the ranks as before directed. If the number of sections in a platoon be uneven, that in the centre is to march straight forward ; the section on the right inclining to the left, and covering it in front; and those on the left inclining to the right, and covering it in the rear.

C H A P. XV.

Of the Baggage on a March.

THE inconveniences arising to an army from having too great a number of waggons, must be evident to every officer; and it is expected, that for the future each officer will curtail his baggage as much as possible.

The order of march for the army will always determine that for the baggage; and, whatever place it may occupy in the line of march, the waggons must always follow in the same order as their respective regiments.

The quarter-master-general, or his deputy, will give the order of march for the baggage, and the commander in chief will order an escort, to be commanded by a field officer, according to its strength.

An officer of each battalion must be appointed to superintend the striking of the tents, and loading the waggons: he must see that the tents are properly tied up; that no provisions, or other articles, are packed in them; and that the tent poles are tied in a bundle by themselves: he must not suffer the waggons to be overloaded, or any thing put into them but what is allowed; and when the waggons are loaded, he must send them with the quarter-master sergeant to the rendezvous of the brigade. This sergeant is to remain with the baggage of his regiment, to see that the waggons follow in order; and if a waggon breaks down, it must be put out of the line, that it may not impede the march of the rest.

Each regiment will furnish a non-commissioned officer to conduct the sick and lame who are not able to march with their regiments. These men are to repair, at the beating of the general, to the rendezvous appointed, where a sufficient number of empty waggons will be ordered to attend for the reception of their knapsacks, and their arms, if necessary. A surgeon of each brigade is to attend the sick belonging to it.

The commanding officer of each battalion will inspect the sick before they are sent from the battalion, in order that none may be sent but those who are really incapable of marching with their regiments. And the officer commanding the escort will be answerable that no soldiers are permitted to march with the baggage on any pretence whatever, except the quarter-master sergeant of each regiment, as before directed.

No waggons are to be permitted to go between the battalions or brigades, except the ammunition waggons.

The waggons of the park, and others, are to be conducted agreeably to the foregoing directions, and the necessary officers furnished to keep order on the march.

C H A P. XVI.

The manner of laying out a Camp, with the Order of Encampment.

WHEN the quarter-masters arrive on the ground where the troops are to encamp, the quarter-master-general having fixed his line of encampment, will conduct them along the line, and give each brigade quarter-master the ground necessary for his brigade,

The quarter-masters of regiments will then have their ground given them by the brigade quarter-masters, and will mark out the place for each company and tent, and for the kitchens, &c. &c. as described in the following order.

Order of Encampment.

[Plate VII. and VIII.]

The infantry will, on all occasions, encamp by battalions, as they are formed in order of battle.

The front of the camp will occupy the same extent of ground as the troops when formed; and the intervals between the battalions will be twenty paces, with an addition of eight paces for every piece of cannon a battalion may have.

The quarter-master of each regiment shall be answerable that he demands no more ground than is necessary for the number of men he has actually with the regiment, allowing two feet for each file, exclusive of the officers, and adding sixteen feet for the intervals between the platoons. He is also to be answerable that no more tents are pitched than are absolutely necessary, allowing one tent for the non-commissioned officers of each company, and one for every six men, including the drums and fifes.

The tents of the non-commissioned officers and privates are to be pitched in two ranks, with an interval of six paces between the ranks, and two feet between each tent; the tents of the non-commissioned officers to be in the front rank, on the right of their companies, in the right wing, and on the left in the left wing of the battalion. Nine feet front are to be allowed for each tent with its interval, and twenty feet in the centre of the battalion for the adjutant; but when a regiment forms two battalions, the adjutant is to encamp with the first battalion, the sergeant-major supplying his place in the second.

The captains' and subalterns' tents are to be in one line, twenty feet from the rear of the men's tents ; the captains' in the right wing, opposite the right of their respective companies, and the subalterns' opposite the left ; and the contrary in the left wing.

The field officers' tents are to be in one line, thirty feet from the line of officers ; the colonel's opposite the centre ; the lieutenant-colonel's on the right ; and the major's on the left. But if the regiment forms two battalions, the colonel encamps behind the centre of the first battalion ; the lieutenant-colonel behind the second battalion, and the major behind the interval, between the two battalions.

The surgeon, pay-master, and quarter-master, encamp in one line, with the front of their tents in a line with the rear of the field officers' tents ; the surgeon on the right, pay-master on the left, and quarter-master in the centre.

The kitchens are to be dug behind their respective companies, forty feet from the field officers' tents. The sutlers' tents are to be between the kitchens.

The horses and waggons are to be placed in a line, twenty feet behind the kitchens.

The drums of each battalion are to be piled six paces in front of the adjutant's tent, and the colors planted before them.

The camp guards are to be three hundred paces in front of the first line, and the same distance in the rear of the second line.

The quarter guard is to be forty feet from the waggon, opposite the interval between the two battalions who furnish it.

The sinks of the first line are to be three hundred feet in front, and those of the second line the same distance in the rear of the camp.

The commanding officers of regiments are to be answerable that no tents are pitched out of the line of encampment on any account whatever, except for the regimental hospital.

The ground being marked out, the quarter-masters will leave the pioneers, and go to meet their regiments, conduct them to their ground, and inform the colonel where they are to go for their necessaries.

C H A P. XVII.

Manner of entering a Camp.

THE head of the column arriving at the first entrance of the camp, the commanding officer of the first battalion will command Carry—Arms !

On which the men carry their arms, and the drums beat a march ; and the officers will see that their platoons have their proper distances, close the ranks and files, and each dress the flank on which his platoon is to wheel, with the same flank of the platoon preceding. The other battalions observe the same directions, and keep their proper distances from each other.

The general or officer commanding must take great care to march the troops in a direct line along the front of the camp, and at such a distance as to give sufficient room for the largest platoons to march clear of the line of tents.

As the battalions respectively arrive in front of their ground, they halt, form battalion (dressing with the right) and order or support their arms.

The adjutants immediately turn out the piquets that may have been ordered, form them in front of their respective battalions, and send them to the rendezvous appointed.

The piquets being sent off, the commanding officers of battalions command their men to pile their arms, and dismiss them to pitch their tents.

As soon as the company have pitched their tents, the captain parades them, and they fetch in their arms.

The tents of the battalion being all pitched, the adjutant will form the detachments for necessaries, and send them off.

In the mean time the commanding officer of the battalion, having examined the ground, will, if necessary, order out a party to open the communications on the right and left; in front for the troops, and in the rear for the baggage.

C H A P. XVIII.

Necessary Regulations for preserving Order and Cleanliness in the Camp.

WHEN a regiment enters a camp, the field officers must take care that the encampment is pitched regularly; that the sinks and kitchens are immediately dug in their proper places, and that no tents are pitched in any part of the camp contrary to the order prescribed.

At least one officer of a company must remain on the parade, to see that the tents are pitched regularly, on the ground marked out.

The tents should be marked with the name of each regiment and company, to prevent their being lost or exchanged, and the tents of each company numbered: and each non-commissioned officer should have a list of the tents, with the mens' names belonging to each.

The utensils belonging to the tents are to be carried alternately by the men ; and the non-commissioned officers of the squads are to be answerable that they are not lost or spoiled.

Whenever a regiment is to remain more than one night on the same ground, the soldiers must be obliged to cut a small trench round their tents, to carry off the rain ; but great care must be taken they do not throw the dirt up against the tents

One officer of a company must every day visit the tents ; see that they are kept clean ; that every utensil belonging to them is in proper order ; and that no bones or other filth be in or near them ; and when the weather is fine, should order them to be struck about two hours at noon, and the straw and bedding well aired.

The soldiers should not be permitted to eat in their tents, except in bad weather ; and an officer of a company must often visit the messes ; see that the provision is good and well cooked ; that the men of one tent mess together ; and that the provision is not sold or disposed of for liquor.

A subaltern, four non-commissioned officers and a drummer must every day be appointed for the police of each battalion, who are on no account to be absent during the time they are on duty.

The officer of the police is to make a general inspection into the cleanliness of the camp, not suffer fire to be made any where but in the kitchens, and cause all dirt to be immediately removed, and either burnt or buried. He is to be present at all distributions in the regiment, and to form and send off all detachments for necessaries.

In case the adjutant is obliged to be absent, the officer of the police is to do his duty till his return ; and for that purpose he must attend at the adjutant's tent, to be ready to receive and distribute any orders that may come for the regiment.

The drummer of the police must attend constantly at the adjutant's tent, to be ready at all times to communicate the necessary signals ; nor must he absent himself on any account during the twenty-four hours, without leaving another drummer to supply his place till his return, nor then, without leave from the adjutant.

When any of the men want water, they must apply to the officer of the police, who will order the drum to beat the necessary signal ; on which all who want water must immediately parade with their canteens before the colours, where the officer of the police will form and send them off under the care of the two non-commissioned officers of the police, who are to be answerable that they bring back the whole detachment, and that no excesses are committed whilst they are out. Wood and all other necessities must be fetched in the same manner. Except in case of necessity, not more than one detachment is to be out at a time.

The quarter-master must be answerable that the parade and environs of the encampment of a regiment are kept clean ; that the sinks are filled up, and new ones dug every four days, and oftener in warm weather ; and if any horse or other animal dies near the regiment, he must cause it to be carried at least half a mile from camp and buried.

The place where the cattle are killed must be at least fifty paces in the rear of the waggons ; and the entrails, and other filth, immediately buried ; for which the commissaries are to be answerable.

The quarter-master-general must take care that all dead animals, and every other nuisance in the environs of the camp, be removed.

No non-commissioned officer or soldier shall be permitted to pass the chain of sentinels round the camp, without permission in writing from the commanding officer of his regiment or battalion ; which permission shall be dated the same day, and shall, on the return of the person to whom it was granted, be delivered to the adjutant, who is to return it to the colonel or commanding officer, with his report.

Every detachment not conducted by a commissioned officer, shall have a written permission from a field officer, or officer commanding a regiment, or the officer of the police, if it be a detachment going for necessaries ; without which they are not to be permitted to pass the chain.

All officers whatever are to make it a point of duty to stop every non-commissioned officer or soldier they meet without the chain, and examine his pass ; and if he has not a sufficient pass, or having one is committing any excess, the officer must conduct him to the nearest guard, from whence he must be sent, with his crime, to his regiment.

The sentinel before the colors must have orders, in case he hears any alarm in camp, or at the advanced posts, to acquaint the adjutant with it ; who will inform the commanding officer of the battalion, or order an alarm beat, if the case requires it.

C H A P. XIX.

Of Roll Calls.

THE rolls shall be called in each battalion at troop and retreat beating, at which times the men are to parade with their arms ; and at the beating of the reveille, and at noon, the commanding officers of companies shall cause the rolls of their respective companies to be called, the men parading for that purpose without arms, and to be detained no longer than is necessary to call the roll.

The non-commissioned officers are to visit their respective squads a quarter of an hour after tattoo beating ; see that they are all present and retired to rest ; and make their report to the commanding officer of the company.

No non-commissioned officer or soldier is to be absent from roll-call without permission from the commanding officer of the company.

No commissioned officer is to be absent from roll-call without permission from the commanding officer of the regiment.

C H A P. XX.

Of the Inspection of the Men, their Dress, Necessaries, Arms, Accoutrements, and Ammunition.

THE oftener the soldiers are under the inspection of their officers the better ; for which reason every morning, at troop beating, they must inspect into the dress of their men ; see that their clothes are whole and put on properly ; their hands and faces washed clean ; their hair combed ; their accoutrements properly fixed, and every article about them in the greatest order. Those who are guilty of repeated neglects in these particulars, are to be confined and punished. The field officers must pay attention to this object, taking proper notice of those companies where a visible neglect appears, and publicly applauding those who are remarkable for their good appearance.

Every day the commanding officers of companies must examine their mens' arms and ammunition, and see that they are clean and in good order. (See farther, Chap. xxiii.)

That the men may always appear clean on the parade, and as a mean of preserving their health, the non-commissioned officers are to see that they wash their hands and faces every day, and oftener when necessary. And when any river is nigh, and the season favorable, the men shall bathe themselves as frequently as possible, the commanding officers of each battalion sending them by small detachments successively, under the care of a non-commissioned officer; but on no account must the men be permitted to bathe when just come off a march, at least till they have reposed long enough to get cool.

Every Saturday morning the captains are to make a general inspection of their companies, and examine into the state of the mens' necessaries, observing that they agree in quantity with what is specified in the company book; and that every article is the man's who shews it. For which purpose, and to discover theft, every man's things should be marked; if any thing is deficient, strict enquiry must be made into the cause of it; and should it appear to be lost, pledged, sold, or exchanged, the offender must be severely punished.

That the men may not be improperly burdened and fatigued, the captains are not to suffer them to carry any thing which is either useless or unnecessary.

C H A P. XXI.

Of the different Beats of the Drum.

THE different daily beats shall begin on the right, and be instantly followed by the whole army; to facilitate which, the drummer's call shall be beat by the drums of the police, a quarter of an hour before the time of beating, when the drummers will assemble before the colors of their respective battalions; and as soon as the beat begins on the right, it is to be immediately taken up by the whole army, the drummers beating along the front of their respective battalions, from the centre to the right, from thence to the left, and back again to the centre, where they finish.

The different beats and signals are to be as follows :
The General is to be beat only when the whole are to march, and is the signal to strike the tents, and prepare for the march.

The Assembly is the signal to repair to the colors.

The March for the whole to move.

The Reveille is beat at day-break, and is the signal for the soldiers to rise, and the centuries to leave off challenging.

The Troop assembles the soldiers together, for the purpose of calling the roll, and inspecting the men for duty.

The Retreat is beat at sun set, for calling the roll, warning the men for duty, and reading the orders of the day.

The Tattoo is for the soldiers to repair to their tents, where they must remain till reveille beating next morning.

To Arms is the signal for getting under arms in case of alarm.

The Parley is to desire a conference with the enemy.

The Signals.

Adjutant's call—first part of the troop.

First Sergeant's call—one roll and three flams.

All non-commissioned officers' call—two rolls and five flams.

To go for wood—poing stroke and ten stroke roll.

Water—two strokes and a flam. Provisions—roast beef.

Front to halt—two flams from right to left, and a full drag with the right, a left hand flam and a right hand full drag.

For the front to advance quicker—the long march.
To march slower—the taps.

For the drummers—the drummer's call.

For a fatigue party—the pioneers march.

For the church call—the parley.

The drummers will practise a hundred paces in front of the battalion, at the hours fixed by the adjutant-general; and any drummer found beating at any other time, except ordered, shall be punished.

C H A P. XXII.

Of the Service of the Guards.

ARTICLE I.

Of the different Guards, with their Use.

THE different guards of the army will consist of

- 1st. Out post and piquet guards.
- 2d. Camp and quarter guards.
- 3d. General and staff officers' guards.

The piquet guards are formed by detachments from the line, and are posted at the avenues of the camp, in such numbers as the general commanding thinks necessary for the security of the camp.

The camp and quarter guards are for the better security of the camp, as well as for preserving good order and discipline.

Every two battalions will furnish a camp and quarter guard between them, to consist of Subalt.	Serg.	Corp.	Drum.	Priv.	{	For the camp guard.

1	1	1	1	27
-	-	1	-	9	{	For the quarter guard.

The camp guard of the front line is to be posted three hundred paces in front of it, and that of the second line the same distance in the rear of the second line, each opposite the interval of the two battalions who furnish it.

Each guard will post nine sentinels, viz. one before the guard, two on the right and two on the left; these five sentinels, with those from the other battalions, forming a chain in the front and rear of the camp; the sixth and seventh sentinels before the colors; and the eighth and ninth before the tents of the commanding officers of the two battalions.

In order to complete the chain of sentinels round the camp, the adjutant-general will order two flank guards from the line, to consist of a commissioned officer and as many men as are necessary to form a chain on the flanks.

The intention of the camp guards being to form a chain of sentinels round the camp, in order to prevent improper persons entering, or the soldiers going out of camp, the commanding officers of brigades will add to, or diminish them, so as to answer the above purpose.

The quarter guard is to be posted twenty paces in the rear of the line of waggons, and will furnish three sentinels, viz. one at the guard, and one behind each battalion.

The guards of the general and other officers will be as follows.

Provost guard

Any additional guard to the quarter-master, commissary, or clothier-general, will be determined by the stores they may have in possession.

The different guards are all to mount at one hour, to be regulated by the commanding officer for the time being.

The camp and quarter guards are to parade before the interval of their battalions, where they will be formed by the adjutant, who furnishes the officer, and immediately sent off to their respective posts.

The guard of a major-general is to be furnished from his own division, each brigade furnishing it by turns; it is to be formed by the major of brigade, and sent from the brigade parade.

The guard of a brigadier-general is to be furnished by his own brigade, and formed and sent from the brigade parade by the major of brigade. The brigade commissary's guard is to be furnished in the same manner.

The other guards being composed of detachments from the line by brigades, each detachment is formed on the brigade parade by the major of brigade, and sent with an adjutant to the grand parade.

All guards, except those which are honorary, should ordinarily be of force proportioned to the number of sentinels required, allowing three relieves for each post.

ARTICLE II.

Of the grand Parade.

As soon as a detachment arrives on the grand parade, the officer having dressed the ranks, commands, and then takes post eight paces in front of his detachment ; the non-commissioned officers fall two paces into the rear, except one who remains on the right of every detachment. Each detachment takes post on the left of that preceding it, and is examined by the brigade-major of the day as it arrives.

Order—Firelocks !

When the whole are assembled, the adjutant of the day dresses the line, counts the files from right to left, and takes post on the right.

The brigade-major then commands,

Attention ! Shoulder—Firelock ! Support—Arms !

Officers and non-commissioned Officers !

To the Centre—March !

The officers then march to the centre, and form themselves, according to seniority, in one rank, sixteen paces in front of the guards ; the non-commissioned officers advance and form two ranks, four paces in the rear of the officers, and with the same distance between their ranks.

The brigade-major then appoints the officers and non-commissioned officers to their posts ; the officers in the following manner :

They go directly to their posts in the battalion.

The brigade major then advances to the general officer of the day, informs him that the battalion is formed, and takes his directions relative to the exercise.

The general of the day will usually order the manual exercise to be performed; and some manœuvres, such as he thinks proper; the major of brigade of the day giving the words of command.

The exercise being finished, the major of brigade commands,

Order—Firelocks !

The drums then beat from right to left of the parade, and passing behind the officers of the day, take post on their left.

The major of brigade then orders,

Shoulder—Firelocks ! Support—Arms !

Officers and non-commissioned Officers !

To the Centre—March !

They advance as before to the centre, and the brigade major appoints them to their respective guards, takes the name of the officer commanding each guard, and gives him the parole and counter-sign. The adjutant having in the mean time told off the guards, and divided them into platoons, the brigade major then commands,

Officers and non-commissioned Officers !

To your Posts ! March !

The officers go to their respective posts.

The brigade major then commands,

Present—Arms !

and advancing to the general, acquaints him that the guards are formed ; and on receiving his orders to march them off, he commands,

Shoulder—Firelocks !

By Platoons ! To the Right—Wheel ! March !

The whole wheel and march by the general, the officers saluting him as they pass ; and when the whole have passed, they wheel off and march to their respective posts.

ARTICLE III.

Of relieving Guards and Sentinels.

The guards in camp will be relieved every twenty-four hours. The guards without the limits of the camp will ordinarily be relieved in the same manner ; but this must depend on their distances from camp, and other circumstances, which may sometimes require their continuing on duty for several days. In this case they must be previously notified to provide themselves accordingly.

The guards are to march in the greatest order to their respective posts, marching by platoons, whenever the roads will permit.

When the new guard approaches the post, they carry their arms ; and the officer of the old guard, having his guard paraded, on the approach of the new guard, commands, and his guard present their arms.

Present—Arms !

The new guard marches past the old guard, and takes post three or four paces on its right, both guards fronting towards the enemy ; and the officer commands, and the new guard present their arms:

Present—Arms !

The two officers then approach each other, and the relieving officer takes his orders from the relieved. Both officers then return to their guards, and command,

Shoulder—Firelocks !

Non-commissioned Officers ! Forward—March !

The non-commissioned officers of both guards, who are to relieve the sentinels, advance in front of the new guard.

The sergeant of the new guard then tells off as many sentinels as are necessary ; and the corporal of the new guard, conducted by a corporal of the old guard, relieves the sentinels, beginning by the guard house.

When the sentinel sees the relief approach, he presents his arms, and the corporal halting his relief at six paces distance, commands, Present—Arms ! Recover—Arms !

This last command is only for the sentinel relieving, and the one to be relieved ; and the former immediately approaching with the corporal, and having received his orders from the old sentry, takes his place ; and the sentry relieved marches into the ranks, placing himself on the left of the rear rank.

Front—Face !

Both sentries face to the front. The corporal then orders,

*Shoulder—Firelock ! Sport—Arms !
March !*

and the relief proceeds in the same manner till the whole are relieved.

If the sentries are numerous, the sergeants are to be employed as well as the corporals in relieving them.

When the corporal returns with the old sentinels, he leads them before the old guard, and dismisses them to their ranks.

The officer of the old guard then forms his guard in the same manner as when he mounted, and marches them in order to camp.

As soon as he arrives in the camp, he halts, forms the men of the different brigades together, and sends them to their respective brigades, conducted by a non-commissioned officer, or careful soldier.

When the old guard march off, the new guard present their arms, till they are gone, then shoulder, face to the left, and take the place of the old guard.

The officer then orders a non-commissioned officer to take down the names of the guard, in the following manner :

Hours they go on, 10—4, 10—4, 12—6, 12—6, 2—8, 2—8.

Post No. 1	Mens' names.	Mens' names.	Mens' names

Suppose the guard to consist of twenty-four men, and to furnish eight sentinels, they are divided into three relieves, and the posts being numbered, beginning always with the guard house, each man's name is put down against the number of the post he will always stand sentry at during the guard, by which mean an officer knows what particular man was at any post during any hour of the day or night.

The relief of sentries is always to be marched in the greatest order, and with supported arms, the corporal often looking back to observe the conduct of the men ; and if an officer approaches, he is to order his men to handle their arms, supporting them again when he has passed.

The corporals are to be answerable that the sentries, when relieving, perform their motions with the greatest spirit and exactness.

A corporal who is detected in having the insolence to suffer sentries to relieve each other, without his being present, shall, as well as the sentry so relieved, be severely punished.

ARTICLE IV.

Instructions to Officers on Guard.

On the vigilance of the officer depends not only the safety of his guard, but that of the whole army.

As it is highly necessary an officer should have some knowledge of his situation, he must, immediately after relieving the old guard, visit the sentinels, and examine the ground round his post ; and if he thinks the sentries not sufficient to secure him from a surprise, he is at liberty to place more, acquainting therewith the general or field officer of the day who visits his post ; but without their leave he is not to alter any that are already posted. He must cause the roads leading to the enemy and to the next posts to be well reconnoitred by an officer of the guard, or for want of one, by an intelligent non-commissioned officer and some faithful men, inform himself of every thing necessary for his security, and use every possible precaution against a surprise. He must permit no stranger to enter his post, nor suffer his men to talk with him. If a suspicious person, or a deserter from the enemy approaches, he must stop him and send him to head quarters, or to a superior officer. He must on no account suffer the soldiers to pull off their accoutrements, or straggle more than twenty paces from the guard ; and if water or any other necessaries are wanted for the guard, they must be sent for by a non-commissioned officer and some men, with their arms if at an out post, on no account suffering a soldier to go by himself ; but never whilst the sentinels are relieving. He must examine every relief before it is sent off ; see that their arms are loaded and in order, and that the men are acquainted with their duty ; and if by any accident a man should get the least disguised with liquor, he must, on no account, be suffered to go on sentry.

At every relief the guard must parade, and the roll be called ; and during the night, and when near the enemy, during the day, the guard must remain under arms till the relief returns.

During the day the men may be permitted to rest themselves as much as is consistent with the safety of the guard ; but in the night, no man must be suffered to lay down or sleep on any account, but have his arms constantly in his hands, and be ready to fall in on the least alarm.

Between every relief the sentries must be visited by a non-commissioned officer and a file of men ; and, when more than one officer is on guard, as often as possible by an officer. A patrol also must be frequently sent on the roads leading to the enemy.

During the day, the sentinels on the out posts must stop every party of men, whether armed or not, till they have been examined by the officer of the guard.

As soon as it is dark, the countersign must be given to the sentinels of the piquets and advanced posts, after which they are to challenge all that approach them ; and if any person, after being ordered to stand, should continue to approach, or attempt to escape, the sentry, after challenging him three times, must fire on him.

The sentinels of the interior guards of the camp will receive the countersign, and begin to challenge, at such hours as shall be determined in orders, according to circumstances.

A sentinel, on perceiving any person approach, must challenge briskly, and never suffer more than one to advance, till he has the countersign given him; if the person challenged has not the countersign, the sentry must call the sergeant of the guard, and keep the person at a little distance from his post, till the sergeant comes to examine him.

Whenever a sentry on an out post perceives more than three men approach, he must order them to stand, and immediately pass the word for the sergeant of the guard; the officer of the guard must immediately parade his guard, and send a sergeant with a party of men to examine the party: the non-commissioned officer must order the commanding officer of the party to advance, and conduct him to the officer of the guard; who, in case he is unacquainted with his person, and does not choose to trust either to his clothing or to his knowledge of the countersign, must demand his passport, and examine him strictly; and if convinced of his belonging to the army, must let him pass.

If a sentry, on challenging, is answered relief, patrol or round, he must in that case order the sergeant or corporal to advance with the countersign; and if he is then assured of their being the relief, &c. he may suffer them to advance.

A sentinel must take the greatest care not to be surprised; he must never suffer the person who advances to give the countersign, to approach within the reach of his arms, and always charge his bayonet.

The officers who mount the camp guards must give orders to their sentries not to suffer any person to pass in or out of camp, except by one of the guards, nor then till the officer of the guard has examined him.

In case one of the guard deserts, the officer must immediately change the countersign, and send notice thereof to the general of the day : who is to communicate the same to the other guards, and the adjutant-general.

As soon as the officer of a guard discovers the approach of the enemy, he must immediately send notice to the nearest general officer, call in the centries, and put himself in the best posture of defence. If attacked on his post, he will defend it to the utmost of his power, nor retreat, unless compelled by superior force ; and even then he must retire in the greatest order, keeping a fire on the enemy, whose superiority, however great, can never justify a guard's retiring in disorder. Should the enemy pursue a guard into camp, the officer must take care to retire through the intervals of the battalions, and forming in the rear of the line, wait for further orders.

When an officer is posted at a bridge, defile, or any work, with orders to maintain it, he must defend it to the last extremity, however superior the force of the enemy may be, as it is to be supposed that the general who gave those orders will reinforce him, or order him to retire whenever he thinks proper.

An officer must never throw in the whole of his fire at once ; for which reason every guard is to be divided into two or more divisions or platoons, according to its strength ; any number above eight and seventy-eight men forming two platoons ; the eldest officer taking post on the right of the first platoon, the next eldest on the right of the second platoon, and the third on the left of the whole ; the non-commissioned officers cover the officers ; the drum is to be on the right of the captain, and the sentinel one pace advanced of the drum. If the guard consists of no more than twelve men, it forms in one rank.

ARTICLE V.

Method of going and receiving the Grand Rounds.

The general and field officers of the day will visit the several guards during the day, as often and at such hours as they judge proper.

When the sentry before the guard perceives the officer of the day, he will call to the guard to turn out ; and the guard, being paraded, on the approach of the officer of the day present their arms.

The officer of the day will examine the guard ; see that none are absent ; that their arms and accoutrements are in order ; that the officers and non-commissioned officers are acquainted with their duty, and that the sentinels are properly posted and have received proper orders.

Not only the officers of the day, but all general officers are at liberty to visit the guards and make the same examination.

The officers of the guard shall give the parole to the officer of the day, if demanded.

During the night, the officers of the day will go the grand rounds.

When the officer of the day arrives at the guard from whence he intends to begin his rounds, he will make himself known as such by giving the officer of the guard the parole. He will then order the guard under arms, and having examined it, demand an escort of a sergeant and two men, and proceed to the next post.

When the rounds are challenged by a sentinel, they will answer, Grand rounds! and the sentry will reply, Stand, Grand rounds! Advance sergeant with the countersign! Upon which the sergeant advances and gives the countersign. The sentinel will then cry, Advance, rounds! and present his arms till they have passed.

When the sentry before the guard challenges, and is answered, Grand rounds! he will reply, Stand, Grand rounds! Turn out the guard! Grand rounds! Upon the sentinel's calling, the guard is to be turned out and drawn up in good order, with shouldered arms, the officers taking their posts. The officer commanding the guard will then order a sergeant and two men to advance towards the round and challenge. When the sergeant of the guard comes within ten paces of the rounds, he is to halt and challenge briskly. The sergeant of the rounds is to answer, Grand rounds! The sergeant of the guard replies, Stand, Grand rounds! Advance sergeant with the countersign! and orders his men to present their arms. The sergeant of the rounds advances alone, and giving the countersign, returns to his rounds; and the sergeant of the guard calls to his officer, The countersign is right! On which the officer of the guard calls, Advance, rounds! The officer of the rounds then advances alone, and on his approach the guard present their arms. The officer of the rounds passes along the front of the guard immediately to the officer, who keeps his post on the right, and gives him the parole. He then examines the guard, orders back his escort, and demanding a new one, proceeds in the same manner to the other guards.

ARTICLE VI.

Honors due from Guards to General Officers and others.

To the commander in chief: All guards turn out with presented arms; the drums beat a march, and the officers salute.

To major-generals: They turn out with presented arms, and beat two ruffles.

To brigadier-generals: They turn out with presented arms, and beat one ruffle.

To officers of the day: They turn out with presented arms, and beat according to their rank.

Except from these rules a general officer's guard, which turns out and pays honors only to officers of superior rank to the general whose guard it is.

To colonels: Their own quarter guards turn out once a day with presented arms; after which they only turn out with ordered arms.

To lieutenant-colonels: Their own quarter guards turn out once a day with shouldered arms; after which they only turn out and stand by their arms.

To majors: Their own quarter guards turn out once a day with ordered arms; at all other times they stand by their arms.

When a lieutenant-colonel or major commands a regiment, the quarter guard is to pay him the same honours as are ordered to a colonel.

All sentries present their arms to general officers, and to the field officers of their own regiments; to all other commissioned officers they stand with shouldered arms.

The president of Congress, all governors in their own states, and committees of Congress at the army, shall have the same honors paid them as the commander in chief.

When a detachment with arms passes before a guard, the guard shall be under arms, and the drums of both beat a march.

When a detachment without arms passes, the guard shall turn out and stand by their arms.

After dark no honors are to be paid, except to the grand rounds; and when near the enemy, no honors are to be paid with the drum.

C H A P. XXIII.

Of the Arms and Ammunition, with the Methods of preserving them.

THE preservation of the arms and ammunition is an object that requires the greatest attention. Commanding officers of regiments must be answerable for those of their regiments, and captains for their respective companies.

An officer of a company must every morning at roll-call inspect minutely into the state of the men's arms, accoutrements and ammunition; and if it shall appear that a soldier has sold, or through carelessness lost or damaged any part of them, he must be confined and punished, and stoppages made of his pay, as hereafter mentioned: For which purpose such officers shall certify to the commanding officer of the regiment the names of the delinquents, and the losses or damages which shall appear of their arms, ammunition and accoutrements; and the commanding officer, after due examination, shall order stoppages to be made for whatever shall appear to have been sold, lost or damaged as aforesaid. The stoppages to be as follows:

For a firelock, sixteen dollars;
a bayonet, two dollars;

- a ram-rod, one dollar ;
- a cartridge-box, one dollar ;
- a bayonet-belt, one dollar ;
- a scabbard, two thirds of a dollar ;
- a cartridge, one sixth of a dollar ;
- a flint, one twentieth of a dollar ;
- a gun-worm, one fourth of a dollar ;
- a screw-driver, one twelfth of a dollar ;

And for arms, accoutrements and ammunition damaged, such sums as the repairs shall cost the states, to be estimated by the brigade conductor, or, when a corps is detached, by such person as its commanding officer shall appoint for that purpose ; provided that such stoppages do not exceed one half the delinquent's pay monthly.

It is highly essential to the service that the ammunition should be at all times kept complete ; for which purpose, as often as is necessary, a return is to be made by each company of the number of cartridges deficient, to the quarter-master, that he may make out a general one for the regiment, to be signed by the commanding officers of the regiment and brigade, and no time lost in supplying the deficiency. The like care is to be taken that all deficiencies of arms and accoutrements are supplied without loss of time.

All arms, accoutrements and ammunition unfit for service, are to be carefully preserved and sent by the commanding officer of each company to the regimental quarter-master, who shall deliver the same to the brigade conductor, they respectively giving receipts for what they receive. The arms, accoutrements and ammunition of the sick and others, when delivered up, are to be taken care of in the same manner. Before the cartridge-boxes are put in the arm-chests, the cartridges must be taken out to prevent any loss or accident.

A conductor shall be appointed to each brigade, who shall have under his immediate care and direction a travelling forge and five or six armourers, an ammunition waggon, and a waggon with an armed chest for each battalion, each chest to hold twenty-five arms, to receive the arms and accoutrements wanting repair, or of the men sick or absent; and when the arms delivered in by a battalion shall exceed the above number, the surplus shall be sent to the commissary of military stores.

The brigade conductor shall issue no ammunition but by order of the commanding officer of the brigade; but may receive and deliver the arms and accoutrements of each battalion, by order of its commanding officer.

The ammunition waggon shall contain twenty thousand cartridges; and in order to keep the same complete, the conductor shall, as deficiencies arise, apply to the field commissary, or one of his deputies, for a supply, or otherwise for the necessary materials of cartridges, and to the major of brigade for men to make them up under the direction of the conductor; and for this purpose the brigade major shall order out a party of the most careful soldiers.

The non-commissioned officers of each company will be provided with gun-worms; and every day, at the noon roll-call of the company, those men who have returned from duty are to bring their arms and have their charges drawn; the first sergeant to receive the powder and ball, and deliver the same to the quarter-master.

C H A P. XXIV.

Of the Treatment of the Sick.

THERE is nothing which gains an officer the love of soldiers more than his care of them under the distress of sickness ; it is then he has the power of exerting his humanity in providing them every comfortable necessary, and making their situation as agreeable as possible.

Two or three tents should be set apart in every regiment for the reception of such sick as cannot be sent to the general hospital, or whose cases may not require it. And every company shall be constantly furnished with two sacks to be filled occasionally with straw, and serve as beds for the sick. These sacks to be provided in the same manner as clothing for the troops, and finally issued by the regimental clothier to the captain of each company, who shall be answerable for the same.

When a soldier dies, or is dismissed from the hospital, the straw he laid on is to be burnt, and the bedding well washed and aired before another is permitted to use it.

The sergeants and corporals shall every morning at roll-call give a return of the sick of their respective squads to the first sergeant, who must make out one for the company, and lose no time in delivering it to the surgeon, who will immediately visit them, and order such as he thinks proper to the regimental hospital ; such whose cases require their being sent to the general hospital, he is to report immediately to the surgeon general, or principal surgeon attending the army.

Once every week (and oftener when required) the surgeon will deliver the commanding officer of the regiment a return of the sick of the regiment, with their disorders, distinguishing those in the regimental hospital from those out of it.

When a soldier is sent to the hospital, the non-commissioned officer of his squad shall deliver up his arms and accoutrements to the commanding officer of the company, that they may be deposited in the regimental arm chest.

When a soldier has been sick, he must not be put on duty till he has recovered sufficient strength, of which the surgeon should be judge.

The surgeons are to remain with their regiments as well on a march as in camp, that in case of sudden accidents they may be at hand to apply the proper remedies.

C H A P. XXV.

Of Reviews.

ARTICLE I.

Of Reviews of Parade.

WHEN a battalion is to be reviewed, it must be drawn up in the following manner :

The ranks at four paces distance from each other ; the colors advanced four paces from the centre ; the colonel twelve paces before the colors ; the lieutenant-colonel four paces behind the colonel ; the major on the right of the battalion in the line of officers ; the adjutant behind the centre ; the officers commanding platoons eight paces before their intervals ; and the other officers on the same line, equally divided in front of their respective platoons ; the sergeants who covered officers take their places in the front rank of their platoons ; the other non-commissioned officers who were in the rear, remain there, falling back four paces behind the rear rank ; and the drummers and fifers are equally divided on the wings of the battalion, dressing with the front rank. The general officer who is to review them being within thirty paces of the battalion, the colonel orders, Battalion ! Present—Arms !

On which the men present their arms, and the drums on the right wing salute him according to his rank, the officers and colours salute him as he passes in front of the battalion ; and on his arriving at the left, the drums beat the same as on the right.

The colonel then commands,

Shoulder—Firelocks !

And when the general has advanced to the front,

Rear Rank ! Close to the Front !

On which the officers face to their platoons.

March !

The rear rank closes to the front, and the officers stepping off at the same time, those commanding platoons take their posts in the front rank, and the others go through the intervals to their posts in the rear.

The colonel then commands,

Battalion !

By Platoons ! To the Right—Wheel ! March !

The whole wheel by platoons to the right, and march by the general ; the colonel at the head of the battalion, with the major behind him, followed by the drums of the right wing ; the adjutant on the left of the fifth platoon ; and the lieutenant-colonel in the rear, preceded by the drums of the left wing.

The officers and colours salute when within eight paces of the general ; and the colonel having saluted, advances to him.

The battalion having marched to its ground and formed, the general orders such exercise and manœuvres as he thinks proper.

ARTICLE II.

Of Reviews of Inspection.

For a review of inspection the battalion must not be told off into platoons, but remain in companies, at open order; the drums and fites on the right, and the ensigns with the colours in front of their respective companies.

The inspector begins with a general review, passing along the front of the battalion from right to left, accompanied by the field and staff officers.—The general review over, the colonel commands, Rear Rank! Close to the Front! March!

The rear rank closes to the front, the officers remaining in front.

By companies! To the Right—Wheel! March!

Each company wheels to the right; the captains then open their ranks, and order, Non-Commissioned Officers! To the Front—March!

The officers take post four paces, and the non-commissioned officers two paces, in front of their companies.

The whole then order their firelocks by word of command from their captains, except the first company, where the inspection begins; when the first company has been inspected, they order their firelocks, and the next company shoulders; the others proceed in the same manner till the whole are inspected.

The field and staff officers accompany the inspector while he inspects the companies; and when the inspection is over, the colonel forms the battalion, and causes it to perform any exercise or manœuvres the inspector thinks proper to order.

INSTRUCTIONS.

Instructions for the Commandant of a Regiment.

THE state having entrusted him with the care of a regiment, his greatest ambition should be to have it at all times and in every respect as complete as possible ; to do which, he should pay great attention to the following objects :

The preservation of the soldiers' health should be his first and greatest care ; and as that depends in a great measure on their cleanliness and manner of living, he must have a watchful eye over the officers of companies, that they pay the necessary attention to their men in those respects.

The only means of keeping the soldiers in order is, to have them continually under the eyes of their superiors ; for which reason the commandant should use the utmost severity to prevent their straggling from their companies, and never suffer them to leave the regiment without being under the care of a non-commissioned officer, except in cases of necessity. And in order to prevent any man's being absent from the regiment without his knowledge, he must often count the files, and see that they agree with the returns delivered him, strictly obliging every man returned fit for duty to appear under arms on all occasions ; and if any are missing, he must oblige the commanding officer of the company to account for their absence. In a word, the commandant ought to know upon what duty and where every man of his regiment is. To these points the other field officers must also pay attention.

The choice of non-commissioned officers is also an object of the greatest importance: the order and discipline of a regiment depends so much upon their behaviour, that too much care cannot be taken in preferring none to that trust but those who, by their merit and good conduct, are entitled to it. Honesty, sobriety, and a remarkable attention to every point of duty, with a neatness in their dress, are indispensable requisites; a spirit to command respect and obedience from the men, and expertness in performing every part of the exercise, and an ability to teach it, are absolutely necessary; nor can a sergeant or corporal be said to be qualified who does not write and read in a tolerable manner.

Once every month the commandant should make a general inspection of his regiment, examine into the state of the men, their arms, ammunition, and accoutrements, necessaries, camp utensils, and every thing belonging to the regiment, obliging the commanding officers of companies to account strictly for all deficiencies.

He should also once every month assemble the field officers and the eldest captain, to hold a council of administration, in which should be examined the books of the several companies, the pay-master and quarter-master, to see that all receipts and deliveries are entered in proper order, and the affairs of the regiment duly administered.

All returns of the regiment being signed by the commanding officer, he should examine them with the greatest care before he suffers them to go out of his hands.

The commandant must always march and encamp with his regiment; nor must he permit any officer to lodge out of camp, or in a house except in case of sickness.

On a march he must keep his regiment together as much as possible, and not suffer the officers to leave their platoons without his permission; nor permit any of them, on any pretence to mount on horseback.—There is no fatigue the soldiers go thro' that the officers should not share; and on all occasions they should set them examples of patience and perseverance.

When a regiment is on a march, the commandant will order a sergeant and six men into the rear, to brig up all stragglers; and the sergeant, on his arrival in camp or quarters, must make his report to him.

In a word, the commanding officer of a regiment must preserve the strictest discipline and order in his corps, obliging every officer to a strict performance of his duty, without relaxing in the smallest point; punishing impartially the faults that are committed, without distinction of rank or service.

Instructions for the Major.

THE major is particularly charged with the discipline, arms, accoutrements, clothing, and generally, with the whole interior management and economy of the regiment.

He must have a watchful eye over the officers, and oblige them to do their duty on every occasion; he must often cause them to be exercised in his presence, and instruct them how to command their platoons and preserve their distances.

He must endeavour to make his regiment perform their exercise and manœuvres with the greatest vivacity and precision, examine often the state of the different companies, making the captains answer for any deficiencies he may perceive, and reporting the same to the colonel.

He must pay the greatest attention to have all orders executed with the strictest punctuality, so far as respects his regiment; and should every week examine the adjutant and quarter-master's books, and see that all returns, orders, and other matters, the objects of their respective duties, are regularly entered.

He must cause to be kept a regimental book, wherein should be entered the name and rank of every officer, the date of his commission, and the time he joined the regiment, the name and description of every non-commissioned officer and soldier, his trade or occupation, the place of his birth and usual residence, where, when and for what term he was enlisted; discharges, furloughs and courts martial, copies of all returns, and every casualty that happens in the regiment.

He must be at all times well acquainted with the strength of his regiment and brigade, and the details of the army, and see that his regiment furnishes no more than its proportion for duty:

He must often inspect the detachments for duty furnished by his regiment, see that they are complete in every respect and formed agreeably to the regulations.

On a march he must often ride along the flanks of his regiment, see that the platoons march in order, and keep their proper distances.

When the regiment is detached, he will post the guards ordered by the colonel, often visit them, examine whether the officers, non-commissioned officers and sentinels are acquainted with their duty, and give them the necessary instructions.

Instructions for the Adjutant:

THE adjutant is to be chosen from among the subalterns, the field officers taking care to nominate one the most intelligent and best acquainted with the service.

He must keep an exact detail of the duty of the officers and non-commissioned officers of his regiment, taking care to regulate his roster in such a manner as not to have too many officers or non-commissioned officers of the same company on duty at the same time.

He must keep a book, in which he must every day take the general and other orders, and shew them to the commanding officer of the regiment, who having added those he thinks necessary for the regiment, the adjutant must assemble the first sergeants of the companies, make them copy the orders, and give them their details for the next day.

He must attend the parade at the turning out of all guards or detachments, inspect their dress, arms, accoutrements and ammunition, form them into platoons or sections, and conduct them to the general or brigade parade.

When the regiment parades for duty or exercise, he must count it off, and divide it into divisions and platoons, and carry the orders of the colonel where necessary.

The adjutant is to receive no orders but from the field officers and officer commanding a battalion.

On a march he must ride along the flanks of the regiment to see that regularity is observed, and must pay attention to the sergeant in the rear, that he brings up all stragglers.

On the arrival of the regiment in camp, his first care is to form and send off the guards; and when the tents are pitched, he must immediately order out the necessary number of fatigue men to dig the vaults or sinks, and open communications where necessary. He will then form the detachments for wood, water, and other necessaries.

He must be constantly with the regiment, ready to receive and execute any orders that may come ; nor must he go from his tent without leaving an officer to do his duty, or directions where he may be found.

Instructions for the Quarter-Master.

THE quarter-master, being charged with encamping and quartering the regiment, should be at all times acquainted with its strength, that he may require no more ground than is necessary, nor have more tents pitched than the number prescribed ; for both which he is accountable.

He must inform the regiment where to fetch their wood, water, and other necessaries, and where to pasture the horses.

He must instruct the quarter-master sergeant and pioneers in the manner of laying out the camp, agreeably to the order prescribed in the regulations.

He is answerable for the cleanliness of the camp, and that the soldiers make no fire any where but in the kitchens.

When the army marches, he must conduct the pioneers to the place appointed, and order the quarter-master sergeant to take charge of the baggage.

He is to make out all returns for camp equipage, arms, accoutrements, ammunition, provisions and forage, and receive and distribute them to the regiment, taking the necessary vouchers for the delivery, and entering all receipts and deliveries in a book kept by him for that purpose.

He must pay particular attention to the preservation of the camp equipage, cause the necessary repairs to be done when wanting, and return every thing unfit for use to the stores from which he drew them.

The preservation of the arms, accoutrements and ammunition is of such essential importance, that he must be strictly attentive to have those of the sick, of the men on furlough, discharged, or detached on command without arms, taken care of and deposited with the brigade conductor, as directed in the regulations.

Instructions for the Captain.

A CAPTAIN cannot be too careful of the company the state has committed to his charge. He must pay the greatest attention to the health of his men, their discipline, arms, accoutrements, ammunition, clothes and necessaries.

His first object should be, to gain the love of his men, by treating them with every possible kindness and humanity, enquiring into their complaints, and, when well founded, seeing them redressed. He should know every man of his company by name and character. He should often visit those who are sick, speak tenderly to them, see that the public provision, whether of medicine or diet, is duly administered, and procure them besides such comforts and conveniences as are in his power. The attachment that arises from this kind of attention to the sick and wounded, is almost inconceivable; it will moreover be the means of preserving the lives of many valuable men.

He must divide his company into four squads, placing each under the particular care of a non-commissioned officer, who is to be answerable for the dress and behavior of the men of his squad.

He must be very-particular in the daily and weekly inspections of his men, causing all deficiencies to be immediately supplied; and when he discovers any irregularity in the dress or conduct of any soldier, he must not only punish him, but the non-commissioned officer to whose squad he belongs.

He must keep a strict eye over the conduct of the non-commissioned officers ; oblige them to do their duty with the greatest exactness ; and use every possible mean to keep up a proper subordination between them and the soldiers ; for which reason he must never rudely reprimand them in presence of the men, but at all times treat them with proper respect.

He must pay the utmost attention to every thing which contributes to the health of the men, and oblige them to keep themselves and every thing belonging to them in the greatest cleanliness and order. He must never suffer a man who has any infectious disorder to remain in the company, but send him immediately to the hospital, or other place provided for the reception of such patients, to prevent the spreading of the infection. And when any man is sick, or otherwise unfit for duty, or absent, he must see that his arms and accoutrements are properly taken care of, agreeably to the regulations prescribed.

He must keep a book, in which must be entered the name and description of every non-commissioned officer and soldier in his company ; his trade or occupation ; the place of his birth and usual residence ; where, when and for what term he enlisted ; discharges, furloughs, copies of all returns, and every casualty that happens in the company. He must also keep an account of all arms, accoutrements, ammunition, clothing, necessaries and camp equipage delivered his company, that on inspecting it he may be able to discover any deficiencies.

When a company arrive at their quarters after a march, he must not dismiss them till the guards are ordered out, and, if cantoned, the billets distributed, which must be as near together as possible ; and he must strictly prohibit his men from vexing the inhabitants, and cause to be punished any that offend in that respect.

He must acquaint them with the hours of roll-call and going for provisions, with their alarm post, and the hour of marching in the morning.

If the company make any stay in a place, he must, previous to their marching, inspect into their condition, examine their knapsacks, and see that they carry nothing but what is allowed, it being a material object to prevent the soldier loading himself with unnecessary baggage.

Instructions for the Lieutenant.

THE lieutenant, in the absence of the captain, commands the company, and should therefore make himself acquainted with that station ; he must also be perfectly acquainted with the duties of the non-commissioned officers and soldiers, and see them performed with the greatest exactness.

He should endeavor to gain the love of his men, by his attention to every thing which may contribute to their health and convenience. He should often visit them at different hours ; inspect into their manner of living ; see that their provisions are good and well cooked, and, as far as possible, oblige them to take their meals at regulated hours. He should pay attention to their complaints, and, when well founded, endeavour to get them redressed ; but discourage them from complaining on every frivolous occasion.

He must not suffer the soldiers to be ill-treated by the non-commissioned officers through malevolence, or from any pique or resentment ; but must at the same time be careful that a proper degree of subordination is kept up between them.

Although no officer should be ignorant of the service of the guards, yet it particularly behoves the lieutenant to be perfectly acquainted with that duty ; he being oftener than any other officer, entrusted with the command of a guard—a trust of the highest importance, on the faithful execution of which, the safety of an army depends ; and in which the officer has frequent opportunities to distinguish himself by his judgment, vigilance and bravery.

Instructions for the Ensign.

THE ensign is in a particular manner charged with the cleanliness of the men, to which he must pay the greatest attention.

When the company parades, and whilst the captain and lieutenant are examining the arms and accoutrements, the ensign must inspect the dress of the soldiers, observing whether they are clean, and every thing about them in the best order possible, and duly noticing any who in these respects are deficient.

He must be very attentive to the conduct of the non-commissioned officers, observing that they do their duty with the greatest exactness ; that they support a proper authority and at the same time do not ill-treat the men through any pique or resentment.

As there are only two colours to a regiment, the ensigns must carry them by turns, being warned for that service by the adjutant. When on that duty, they should consider the importance of the trust reposed in them ; and when in action, resolve not to part with the colours but with their lives. As it is by them the battalion dresses when marching in a line, they should be very careful to keep a regular step, and by frequent practice accustom themselves to march straight forward to any given object.

Instructions for the Sergeant-Major.

THE sergeant-major, being at the head of the non-commissioned officers, must pay the greatest attention to their conduct and behavior, never conniving at the least irregularity committed by them or the soldiers, from both of whom he must exact the most implicit obedience. He should be well acquainted with the interior management and discipline of the regiment, and the manner of keeping rosters and forming details. He must always attend the parade, be very expert in counting off the battalion, and in every other business of the adjutant, to whom he is an assistant.

Instructions for the Quarter-Master-Sergeant.

HE is an assistant to the quarter-master of the regiment, and in his absence is to do his duty, unless an officer be specially appointed for that purpose: He should therefore acquaint himself with all the duties of the quarter-master before mentioned. When the army marches he must see the tents properly packed and loaded, and go with the baggage, see that the waggoners commit no disorders, and that nothing is lost out of the waggons.

Instructions for the first Sergeant of a Company.

THE soldier having acquired that degree of confidence of his officers as to be appointed first sergeant of a company, should consider the importance of his office ; that the discipline of the company, the conduct of the men, their exactness in obeying orders and the regularity of their manners, will, in agreat measure, depend on his vigilance.

He should be intimately acquainted with the character of every soldier of the company, and should take great pains to impress upon their minds the indispensable necessity of the strictest obedience, as the foundation of order and regularity.

He will keep the details of the company, and never warn a man out of his turn, unless particularly ordered so to do.

He must take the daily orders in a book kept by him for that purpose, and shew them to his officers.

He must every morning make a report to the captain of the state of the company, in the form prescribed ; and at the same time acquaint him with any thing material that may have happened since the preceding report.

He must parade all guards and detachments furnished by his company, examine their arms, ammunition, accoutrements and dress, before he carries them to the parade ; and if any man appears unfit, he must supply his place with another, and have the defaulter punished : For this purpose he must always warn a man or two more than ordered, to serve as a reserve, who, if not wanted, will return to their companies.

He will keep the company book (under the inspection of the captain) in which he will enter the name and description of every non-commissioned officer and soldier ; his trade and occupation ; the place of his birth and usual residence ; where, when and for what term he was enlisted ; the bounty paid him ; the arms, ammunition, accoutrements, clothing and necessaries delivered him, with their marks and numbers, and the times when delivered ; also copies of all returns, furloughs, discharges, and every casualty that happens in the company.

When each soldier shall be provided with a small book, the first sergeant is to enter therein the soldier's name, a copy of his enlistment, the bounty paid him, the arms, accoutrements, clothing and necessities delivered him, with their marks and numbers : For this purpose he must be present at all distributions in his company ; and as often as arms, clothing, &c. are delivered, he must enter them in the soldier's as well as the company's book.

The first sergeant is not to go on any duty, unless with the whole company ; but is to be always in camp or quarters, to answer any call that may be made.

He is never to lead a platoon or section, but is always to be a file closer in the formation of the company, his duty being in the company like the adjutant's in the regiment.

Instructions for the Sergeants and Corporals.

IT being on the non-commissioned officers that the discipline and order of a company in a great measure depend, they cannot be too circumspect in their behaviour towards the men, by treating them with mildness, and at the same time obliging every one to do his duty. By avoiding too great familiarity with the men, they will not only gain their love and confidence, but be treated with a proper respect ; whereas by a contrary conduct they forfeit all regard, and their authority becomes despised.

Each sergeant and corporal will be in a particular manner answerable for the squad committed to his care. He must pay particular attention to their conduct in every respect ; that they keep themselves and their arms always clean; that they have their effects always ready, and put where they can get them immediately, even in the dark, without confusion; and on every fine day he must oblige them to air their effects.

When a man of his squad is warned for duty, he must examine him before he carries him to the parade, obliging him to take all his effects with him, unless when specially ordered to the contrary.

In teaching the recruits, they must exercise all their patience, by no means abusing them, but treating them with mildness, and not expect too much precision in the first lessons, punishing those only who are wilfully negligent.

They must suppress all quarrels and disputes in the company, and where other means fail, must use their authority in confining the offender.

They should teach the soldiers of their squads how to dress with a soldier-like air, how to clean their arms, accoutrements, &c. and how to mount and dismount their fire-locks; for which purpose each non-commissioned officer should always be provided with a turn-screw, and suffer no soldier to take his arms to pieces without his permission.

On a march the non-commissioned officers must preserve order and regularity, and suffer no man to leave the ranks without permission of the officer commanding the platoon.

A corporal must teach the sentinels to challenge briskly, and every thing else they are to do in their different situations; and when he relieves them, must make them deliver the orders distinctly.

When a guard is relieved, the non-commissioned officers take the orders from those whom they relieve; when sent to visit the sentries, they should instruct them in their duty. They should reconnoitre the roads they are to patrol in the night, that they may not lose themselves. They must make their patrol with the greatest silence and attention, and where necessary, send a faithful soldier a-head to look out. If they meet a detachment of the enemy stronger than their own, they must retreat in order to their own post. In the night they must stop all strangers that approach. They must not suffer their men to make the least noise with their arms or accoutrements, and every now and then stop and listen. On their return from patrolling, they must report to the officer what they have seen or heard.

When a non-commissioned officer is a file-closer in action, he must take care to keep the ranks and files properly closed, and when too much crowded, make them incline from the centre. When the files of his platoon are disordered by the loss of men, he must exert himself to dress and complete them afresh, with the utmost expedition. He must keep the greatest silence in the ranks, see that the men load well and quick, and take good aim. He will do all in his power to encourage the soldiers, and use the most vigorous means to prevent any from leaving the ranks, unless wounded.

Instructions for the private Soldier.

THE recruit having received his necessaries, should in the first place learn to dress himself with a soldier-like air; to place his effects properly in his knapsack, so as to carry them with ease and convenience; how to salute his officers when he meets them; to clean his arms, wash his linen and cook his provisions. He should early accustom himself to dress in the night; and for that purpose always have his effects in his knapsack, and that placed where he can put his hand on it in a moment, that in case of alarm he may repair with the greatest alertness to the parade.

When learning to march, he must take the greatest pains to acquire a firm step and a proper balance, practising himself at all his leisure hours. He must accustom himself to the greatest steadiness under arms, to pay attention to the commands of his officers, and exercise himself continually with his fire-lock, in order to acquire vivacity in his motions. He must acquaint himself with the usual beats and signals of the drum, and instantly obey them.

When in the ranks, he must always learn the names of his right and left hand men and file leader, that he may be able to find his place readily in case of separation. He must cover his file leader and dress well in his rank, which he may be assured of doing when he can just perceive the breast of the third man from him. Having joined his company, he must no longer consider himself as a recruit, but as a soldier; and whenever he is ordered under arms, must appear well dressed, with his arms and accoutrements clean and in good order, and his knapsack, blanket, &c. ready to throw on his back in case he should be ordered to take them.

When warned for guard, he must appear as neat as possible, carry all his effects with him, and even when on sentry must have them at his back. He must receive the orders from the sentry he relieves; and when placed before the guard-house, he must inform the corporal of all that approach, and suffer no one to enter until examined; if he is posted at a distance from the guard, he will march there in order, have the orders well explained to him by the corporal, learn which is the nearest post between him and the guard, in case he should be obliged to retire, or have any thing to communicate, and what he is to do in case of alarm; or if in a town, in case of fire and any disturbance. He will never go more than twenty paces from his post; and if in a retired place, or in the night, suffer no one to approach within ten paces of him.

A sentinel must never rest upon his arms, but keep walking on his post. He must never suffer himself to be relieved but by his corporal; challenge briskly in the night, and stop those who have not the counter-sign; and if any will not answer to the third challenge, or having been stopped should attempt to escape, he may fire on them.

When on a patrol, he must observe the strictest silence, nor make the least noise with his arms or accoutrements.

In action he will pay the greatest attention to the commands of his officers, level well, and not throw away his fire; take particular care to keep his rank and file, incline to that side he orders to, and encourage his comrades to do their duty.

When ordered to march, he must not charge himself with any unnecessary baggage; he will march at his ease, without however leaving his rank or file; he should drink as seldom as possible, and never stop but when necessity obliges him; in which case he must ask leave of the commanding officer of the platoon.

When arrived at camp or quarters, he must clean his arms, prepare his bed, and go for necessaries, taking nothing without leave, nor committing any kind of excess.

He must always have a stopper for the muzzle of his gun in case of rain, and when on a march; at which times he will unfix his bayonet.

AN APPENDIX,

CONTAINING THE

UNITED STATES MILITIA ACT,

WHICH IS INCORPORATED IN THE FOLLOW-ING ACT ORGANIZING THE MILITIA OF THIS STATE. ALSO, THE AMEND-MENTS TO THE LAST MEN-TIONED ACT.

An ACT to Organize the Militia of this State.

Passed 7th April, 1801.

WHEREAS by the constitution of the United States, the Congress have power to provide for organizing, arming and disciplining the militia, and for governing such parts of them as may be employed in the service of the United States, reserving to the states respectively the appointment of the officers and the authority of training the militia, according to the discipline prescribed by the Congress.

And whereas, the Congress did' on the eighth day of May, one thousand seven hundred and ninety-two, pass an act, entitled "An act more effectually to provide for the national defence, by establishing an uniform militia throughout the United States," which act is in the words following, viz.

"1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, That each and every free able bodied white male, citizen of the respective states, resident therein, who is, or shall be, of the age of eighteen years, and under the age of forty-five years, (except as is herein after excepted,) shall severally and respectively be enrolled in the militia by the captain or commanding officer of the company within whose bounds such citizen shall reside, and that within twelve months after the passing of this act. And it shall at all times hereafter be the duty of every such captain or commanding officer of a company to enrol every such citizen as aforesaid, and also those who shall from time to time arrive at the age of eighteen years, or being of the age of eighteen years, and under the age of forty-five years (except as before excepted) shall come to reside within his bounds, and shall, without delay, notify such citizen of the said enrolment by a proper non-commissioned officer of the company, by whom such notice may be proved. That every citizen so enrolled and notified, shall, within six months thereafter, provide himself with a good musket or firelock, a sufficient bayonet and belt, two spare flints and a knapsack, a pouch with a box therein, to contain not less than twenty-four cartridges suited to the bore of his musket or firelock, each cartridge to contain a proper quantity of powder and ball, or with a good rifle, knapsack, shot pouch and powder horn, twenty balls suited to the bore of his rifle, and a quarter of a pound of powder, and shall appear so armed, accoutred and provided, when called out to exercise or into service, except that when called out on company days to exercise only, he may appear without a knapsack.— That the commissioned officers shall severally be armed with a sword or hanger and esponton; and that from and after five years from the passing of this act, all muskets for arming the militia, as herein required shall be of bores sufficient for balls of the eighteenth part of a pound; and every citizen so enrolled and providing himself with the arms, ammunition and accoutrements required as aforesaid, shall hold the same exempted from all suits, distresses, executions, or sales for debt, or for the payment of taxes.

2. And be it further enacted, That the Vice-President of the United States, the officers, judicial and executive, of the government of the United States, the members of both Houses of Congress, and their respective officers, all custom-house officers, with their clerks, all post-officers and stage drivers who are employed in the care and conveyance of the mail of the post-office of the United States, all ferry-men employed at any ferry on the post road, all inspectors of exports, all pilots, all marines actually employed in the sea service of any citizen or merchant within the United States, and all persons who now are, or may hereafter be exempted by the laws of the respective states, shall be, and are hereby exempted from militia duty, notwithstanding their being above the age of eighteen, and under the age of forty-five years.

3. And be it further enacted, That within one year after the passing of this act, the militia of the respective states shall be arranged into divisions, brigades, regiments, battalions and companies, as the legislature of each state shall direct; and each division, brigade and regiment, shall be numbered at the formation thereof, and a record made of such numbers, in the adjutant-general's office, in the state; and when in the field, or in service in the state, each division, brigade and regiment, shall respectively take rank according to their numbers, reckoning the first or lowest number highest in rank; that if the same be convenient, each brigade shall consist of four regiments, each regiment of two battalions, each battalion of five companies, each company of sixty-four privates; that the said militia shall be officered by the respective states, as follows: To each division, one major-general and two aids-de-camps, with the rank of major; to each brigade, one brigadier-general, with one brigade inspector, to serve also as a brigade-major, with the rank of a major; to each regiment, one lieutenant-colonel commandant, and to each battalion, one major; to each company, one captain, one lieutenant, one ensign, four sergeants, four corporals, one drummer, and one fife or bugler; that there shall be a regimental staff, to consist of one adjutant and one quarter-master, to rank as lieutenants; one pay-master, one surgeon, and one surgeon's mate, one sergeant-major, one drum-major, and one fife-major.

4. And be it further enacted, That out of the militia enrolled as is herein directed, there shall be formed for each battalion, at least one company of grenadiers, light infantry or riflemen, and that to each division there shall be at least one company of artillery and one troop of horse: there shall be to each company of artillery, one captain, two lieutenants, four sergeants, four corporals, six gunners, six bombardiers, one drummer and one fife; the officers to be armed with a sword or hanger, a fusée, bayonet and belt, with a cartridge box to contain twelve cartridges, and each private or matross shall furnish himself with all the equipments of a private in the infantry, until proper ordnance and field artillery is provided. There shall be to each troop of horse, one captain, two lieutenants, one cornet, four sergeants, four corporals, one saddler, one farrier, and one trumpeter; the commissioned officers to furnish themselves with good horses, at least fourteen and an half hands high, and to be armed with a sword and pair of pistols, the holsters of which to be covered with bear-skin caps; each dragoon to furnish himself with a serviceable horse, at least fourteen hands and an half high, a good saddle, bridle, mail pillion and valise, holsters, and a breast plate and crupper, a pair of boots and spurs, a pair of pistols, a sabre, and a cartouch box to contain twelve cartridges for pistols. That each company of artillery and troop of horse shall be formed of volunteers from the brigade, at the discretion of the commander in chief of the state, not exceeding one company of each to a regiment, nor more in number than one eleventh part of the infantry, and shall be uniformly clothed in regimentals, to be furnished at their own expence, the colour and fashion to be determined by the brigadier commanding the brigade to which they belong.

5. And be it further enacted, That each battalion and regiment shall be provided with the state and regimental colours by the field officers, and each company with a drum and fife, or bugle horn, by the commissioned officers of the company, in such manner as the legislature of the respective states shall direct.

6. And be it further enacted, That there shall be an adjutant-general appointed in each state, whose duty it shall be to distribute all orders from the commander in chief of the state to the several corps; to attend all public reviews, when the commander in chief of the state shall review the militia, or any part thereof; to obey all orders from him relative to carrying into execution, and perfecting the system of military discipline established by this act; to furnish blank forms of different returns that may be required, and to explain the principles on which they should be made; to receive from the several officers of the different corps throughout the state, returns of the militia under their command, reporting the actual situation of their arms, accoutrements, and ammunition, their delinquencies, and every other thing which relates to the general advancement of good order and discipline: all which the sever eral officers of the divisions, brigades, regiments, and battalions, are hereby required to make in the usual manner, so that the said adjutant-general may be duly furnished therewith: From all which returns he shall make proper abstracts, and lay the same annually before the commander in chief of the state.

7. And be it further enacted, That the rules of discipline approved and established by Congress in their resolution of the twenty-ninth of March, one thousand seven hundred and seventy-nine shall be the rules of discipline to be observed by the militia throughout the United States, except such deviations from the said rules as may be rendered necessary by the requisitions of this act, or by some other unavoidable circumstances. It shall be the duty of the commanding officer at every muster, whether by battalion, regiment or single company, to cause the militia to be exercised and trained agreeably to the said rules of discipline.

8. And be it further enacted, That all commissioned officers shall take rank according to the date of their commissions; and when two of the same grade bear an equal date, then their rank to be determined by lot, to be drawn by them before the commanding officer of the brigade, regiment, battalion, company or detachment.

9. And be it further enacted, That if any person, whether officer or soldier, belonging to the militia of any state, and called out into the service of the United States, be wounded or disabled while in actual service, he shall be taken care of and provided for at the public expense.

10. And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of the brigade inspector, to attend the regimental and battalion meetings of the militia composing their several brigades, during the time of their being under arms, to inspect their arms, ammunition and accoutrements ; superintend their exercise and manœuvres, and introduce the system of military discipline before described throughout the brigade, agreeable to law, and such orders as they shall, from time to time, receive from the commander in chief of the state ; to make returns to the adjutant-general of the state, at least once in every year of the militia of the brigade to which he belongs, reporting therein the actual situation of the arms, accoutrements and ammunition of the several corps and every other thing which, in his judgment, may relate to their government and the general advancement of good order and military discipline ; and the adjutant-general shall make a return of all the militia of the state, to the commander in chief of the said state, and a duplicate of the same to the President of the United States.

And whereas sundry corps of the artillery, cavalry and infantry, now exist in several of the said states, which, by the laws, customs, or usages thereof, have not been incorporated with, or subject to the general regulations of the militia :

11. Be it further enacted, That such corps retain their accustomed privileges, subject, nevertheless, to all other duties required by this act, in like manner with the other militia."

AND WHEREAS the reservations contained in the said constitution relative to the militia of the states respectively, render it necessary that provision should be made in the premises by the legislature of this state : Therefore,

12. Be it enacted by the people of the State of New-York, represented in Senate and Assembly, That the militia of this state shall be arranged into five divisions, agreeably to the directions of the commander in chief, and conformable to the act of Congress aforesaid : and each division shall be formed into as many brigades, and each brigade into as many regiments, and each regiment into as many companies as the commander in chief shall, in his discretion, from time to time, deem meet ; and he shall order at least one company of artillery, and one troop of horse, to be formed from every brigade, or from such of them as he shall require.

13 And be it further enacted, That the commander in chief, shall be entitled to appoint for himself three aids-de-camp, who shall have the rank of lieutenant-colonels.

14 And be it further enacted, That the cavalry of this state shall be organized into as many regiments as there are divisions ; that each regiment consisting of not more than eight troops, shall be divided into two squadrons, and each regiment consisting of more than eight troops, shall be divided into three squadrons, as the commander in chief shall direct ; and each squadron shall be commanded by one major ; and to each regiment there shall be one lieutenant-colonel commandant, and the same staff as regiments of infantry ; that such regiments of cavalry shall be formed into two brigades, each of which shall be commanded by a brigadier-general ; that the officers of cavalry shall rise and receive promotion in their respective troops, squadrons, regiments and brigades ; and the whole shall be under the command of one major-general ; that the brigadier-generals of infantry shall have the command of troops attached to their brigade, to parade for annual inspection, but all other parades shall be ordered by the officers of cavalry ; and that the cavalry of this state shall parade for improvement twice in every year by troop, to be ordered by the captains or commanding officers of troops, once in every year by troops or squadrons to be ordered by the lieutenant-colonel commandant, and if the commanding officer of brigade shall think proper, once by regiments or brigades.

15. And be it further enacted, That every trooper shall own and possess a horse able and fit for service, and if such trooper shall not procure and possess himself of such horse within the term of three months after his enlistment, such trooper shall be returned to the beat to which he before belonged ; and all horses belonging to any troop, shall be enrolled by the commanding officer of such troop by their distinguishing mark ; and the horses so enrolled, and doing duty in any troop, shall be exempted from all attachments, seizures, distresses, executions, or sales for debt, or for the payment of taxes ; and it shall not be lawful for any officer to grant a certificate of enlistment to any trooper to excuse him from duty in any other corps, nor shall such trooper's horse be exempted from attachment until such trooper shall have the equipments required by the laws of the United States.

16. And be it further enacted, That the artillery of this state shall be organized into as many regiments as there are divisions ; that each regiment shall be divided into two battalions, and each battalion shall be commanded by one major, and to each regiment there shall be one lieutenant-colonel commandant, and the same staff as regiments of infantry ; that such regiments of artillery shall be formed into one or more brigades, as the commander in chief shall direct ; each of which shall be commanded by a brigadier-general ; that the officers of artillery shall rise and receive promotion in their respective companies, battalions, regiments and brigades ; and the whole shall be under the command of a major-general : That the brigadier-general of infantry shall have the command of the companies attached to their brigade, to parade for annual inspection, but all other parades shall be ordered by the officers of artillery, and the artillery shall parade for improvement and inspection as often and in the same manner as the infantry are by law directed to meet for such purposes: Provided always, That nothing in this section contained shall apply to the regiment of artillery in the city of New-York.

17. And be it further enacted, That the regiment of artillery in the city and county of New-York, shall have three field officers, and each company shall consist of as many officers, non-commissioned officers and matrosses, as is directed by the act of Congress aforesaid; and whenever the lieutenant-colonel of the said regiment of artillery, becomes the senior lieutenant-colonel within the district of the brigade of the city and county of New-York, it shall be lawful to appoint him to the rank of a brigadier-general by brevet or otherwise; and confine him, if necessary, to the command of the regiment; and whenever he becomes the senior brigadier-general in the division in which he resides, it shall be lawful for the person administering the government, by and with the advice and consent of the council of appointment, to appoint him major-general of the said division: and the said regiment shall, in the discretion of the commander in chief, be subject to be annexed to and compose a part of a brigade in such manner as he shall, from time to time, deem meet: And further, the said regiment shall be ordered out for exercise at least twelve times, and not exceeding eighteen times in each year, by the commanding officer thereof; and the commissary of military stores, shall deliver to the commandant of the said regiment, from time to time, such ammunition as the person administering the government of this state, shall judge necessary for the public good, to be expended with practising with field artillery, mortars and other useful experiments.

18. And be it further enacted, That all returns from the militia corps respectively, shall be made out and transmitted in such manner, and at such time, as the commander in chief shall direct; and that every commissioned officer who shall from time to time be appointed, shall report his acceptance to the office within ten days after having received notice thereof, to such officer or officers as the commander in chief shall from time to time direct.

19. And be it further enacted, That the militia of this state shall rendezvous three times in every year, for the purpose of training, disciplining and improving in martial exercise, twice by companies within their respective beats, and once by regiments, (except as is herein after excepted,) and that each brigadier-general shall appoint the regimental parades at such time and place as he may think proper, as nearly central as may be within each of the respective regiments; that the time and place of the rendezvous for the companies shall be appointed by the colonel or commanding officer of the regiment, and arranged on different days; that the field and staff officers may have an opportunity of attending the several companies exercised in detail, in order to introduce uniformity in the manœuvres and discipline of the regiment: Provided, however, that it shall be lawful for the militia of the counties of Otsego, Delaware, Herkemer, Oneida, Chenango, Tioga, Onondaga, Cayuga, Ontario, Steuben, Essex and Clinton, to rendezvous by regiments or battalions as the major-general or commanding officer of the division may direct.

20. And be it further enacted, That every non-commissioned officer and private who shall neglect or refuse to obey the orders of his superior officer, while under arms, shall forfeit two dollars and fifty cents for every such offence; and if any such non-commissioned officer or private, enrolled to serve in either of the companies mentioned in this act, shall refuse or neglect to perform such military duty, or exercise as he shall be required to perform, or shall depart from his colors or guard without the permission of his superior officer as aforesaid, he shall forfeit the sum of two dollars and fifty cents, and for the non-payment thereof, the offender shall be committed to gaol by warrant from the captain or commanding officer of the troop or company, then present, to which such offender doth belong, there to be confined until the fines as aforesaid, together with the gaoler's fees, are paid; and the respective sheriffs of the respective cities and counties of the state are hereby empowered and required to receive the body of any offender who shall be brought to them by virtue of any warrant under the hand and seal of any officer by virtue of this act, and him to keep in safe custody until such fines as are mentioned in such warrant, together with the gaoler's fees as aforesaid, shall be paid, or until the said offender shall be discharged by due course of law; and the sheriffs and gaolers respectively shall be allowed the same fees as are allowed in other cases; provided, that in case of a military guard, where a captain doth not command in person, a warrant granted by an interior officer, who shall have the command of such guard, shall be of the same authority against all offenders, as if such warrant had been issued by such captain.

21. And be it further enacted, That it shall not be lawful for any non-commissioned officer or private to discharge any fire-arm within two miles of the place of parade, on any day that they shall be ordered out for improvement or inspection, without an order or permission of a commissioned officer; and if any such non-commissioned officer or private shall so discharge any fire arm without such order or permission, he shall forfeit the sum of one dollar.

22. And be it further enacted, That the militia of this state shall be considered to be under arms from the rising until the setting of the sun, of the same day that they shall be ordered out by law for improvement or inspection; and that no officer, non-commissioned officer or private belonging to the same, shall, while under arms, be subject to be arrested on any civil process.

23. And be it further enacted, That no military corps shall be ordered to parade on any public road or highway, so as to obstruct travellers from passing or repassing, but it shall be lawful for any such corps to occupy any such road or highway for a parade, allowing a passage for travellers as aforesaid; and that no person shall be permitted to sell or expose for sale on any parade, the bounds of which shall be determined by the commanding officer present, at any such parade, any spirituous liquors whatsoever; and if any person shall expose for sale any spirituous liquors, contrary to this act, and be thereof convicted before any court having cognizance thereof, he shall forfeit the sum of twenty-five dollars, the one moiety thereof to the person prosecuting for the same, and the other moiety to be paid and applied as fines for delinquencies in the regiment, on whose parade such liquor was exposed for sale as aforesaid.

24. And be it further enacted, That the commanding officer of every regiment shall call a meeting of the commissioned officers of their respective regiments, at such times and places as he shall appoint for improvement, which shall be at least once and not exceeding three times in every year; and that every commissioned officer being duly notified, and neglecting to attend such meeting, shall forfeit and pay ten dollars for every such neglect, unless such delinquent officer shall assign such reasons for non-attendance as shall be satisfactory to said commandant; to be recovered with costs, by and in the name of the adjutant of such regiment, in any court having cognizance of the same.

25. And be it further enacted, That the divisions, brigades and regiments of militia in this state, shall be numbered in such order as the commander in chief shall direct.

26. And be it further enacted, That the age and ability of any person to bear arms, shall be determined by the captain or commanding officer of the company, with the right of appeal to the commandant of the regiment; and that every occupant or house-holder in the city and county of New-York, shall, when thereunto required by the enrolling officer or officers of a beat, deliver verbally or in writing the name and age of every male between eighteen and forty-five years of age, that resides or boards in their house, under the penalty of ten dollars for every such neglect or refusal.

27. And be it further enacted, That where any person shall have been enrolled in the militia of this state, and shall remove to and within the beat of some other company than that which he was so enrolled, he shall be liable to be warned for militia duty from the time he shall so come to reside within the same; and that no non-commissioned officer or private belonging to any corps of cavalry, artillery, grenadiers or light infantry, shall be allowed to leave such corps and enlist in any other, without the written consent of the officer commanding such corps, except in cases of removal from and out of the beat of such corps.

28. And be it further enacted, That the military uniform of this state shall be as follows: General officers, dark blue coats, with buff facings, linings, collars and cuffs, and with buff under clothes ; regimental and staff officers, dark blue coats with white linings, scarlet facings, collars and cuffs, and with white under clothes ; non-commissioned officers and privates of the grenadier and light infantry companies, dark blue coats, with white linings, scarlet facings, collars and cuffs, and white under clothes ; and the buttons of the uniform of the militia in the respective brigades shall be either of white or yellow metal, in the discretion of the brigadier-general thereof.

29. And be it further enacted, That the cockade of the army of the United States shall be the cockade of the militia of this state.

30. And be it further enacted, That it shall be lawful for the major-general, or commanding officer of any division, respectively, in the counties of Montgomery, Otsego, Herkimer, Oneida, Chenango, Tioga, Onondaga, Cayuga, Ontario, Steuben, Essex and Clinton, if he shall deem it expedient, to direct any light infantry or riflemen of such division to uniform themselves in rifle frocks and overalls.

31. And be it further enacted, That the commander in chief shall direct the colour and fashion of the uniform of the cavalry and artillery in this state, not already provided with uniform ; and that no troop or regiment of horse, or company or regiment of artillery shall hereafter parade otherwise uniformed than as shall be so directed by the commander in chief : And that if any company of artillery, troop of horse, company of grenadiers or light infantry, shall not have thirty men in uniform according to law, within one year after such company or troop has been organized, such company or troop shall be dissolved.

32. And be it further enacted, That the commander in chief of this state may, in case of invasion or other emergency, when he shall judge it necessary, order out any proportion of the militia of this state, to march to any part thereof, and continue as long as he may think necessary ; and likewise may, in consequence of an application of the executive of any of the United States, or an invasion or insurrection, or an apprehension of an invasion of such state, at his discretion, order any number of the militia, not exceeding one third part thereof, to such state : Provided, that they be not compelled to continue on duty out of this state, more than forty days at any one time : That while in actual service, in consequence of being so called out, they shall receive the same pay and rations, and be subject to the same rules and regulations as the troops of the United States of America.

83. And be it further enacted, That it shall and may be lawful to and for any major-general of a division or commanding officer of a brigade, or commanding officer of a regiment, when and as often as any invasion may happen, to order out the militia or any part thereof, under their respective commands, for the defence of this state, giving notice of such invasion, and every circumstance attending the same, as early as possible, to their immediate commanding officer, by whom such information shall be transmitted, with the utmost expedition, to the commander in chief of this state ; and that in cases of insurrection, the commanding officer of the regiment, within the limits of which any such insurrection may happen, shall immediately assemble his regiment under arms, and having transmitted information thereof to the commanding officer of the brigade, and to the commander in chief of this state, shall proceed to take such measures to suppress such insurrection as to any three of the judges or justices of the county.

in which such insurrection shall happen, shall appear most proper and effectual ; and if any person be wounded or disabled while in actual service of this state, in opposing any invasion or insurrection, or in suppressing the same, he shall be taken care of and provided for at the expence of this state : Provided always, that if such judges or justices shall deem a greater number of militia requisite to quell such insurrection, they shall and are hereby required to apply for the same to the commanding officer of the division or any brigade thereof, who are hereby severally required to obey such requisition.

34. And be it further enacted, That courts martial for the trial of general officers shall be ordered by the commander in chief of this state, and shall consist of general and field officers taken from a roster to be kept by the adjutant-general for that purpose ; that courts martial for the trial of field officers shall be ordered by the commanding officer of the division, and shall consist of commanding officers of brigades, field officers, and, it requisite, captains ; that courts martial for the trial of officers below the rank of field officers, shall be ordered by the commanding officer of the brigade, and shall consist of field officers and others of inferior rank ; that the commanders of regiments shall institute regimental courts martial within their respective regiments, as often as it shall be found necessary.

35. And be it further enacted, That a court martial, other than regimental courts martial, shall consist of thirteen commissioned officers, who shall appoint their own judge advocate, which judge advocate shall tender to each member, and each member is hereby required to take, the following oath : “ You do swear that you will well and truly try and determine, according to evidence, the matter now depending between the people of the state of New-York and the person and persons to be tried ; and you do further swear that you will not divulge the sentence of the court until the same shall be approved or disapproved, pursuant to the act, entitled " An act to organize the militia of this state," neither will you, upon any account, at any time whatsoever, disclose or discover the vote or opinion of any particular member of the court martial, unless required to give evidence thereof by a court of justice in a due course of law : So help you God." And the president is hereby authorized to tender to the judge advocate, who is hereby enjoined to take the following oath : " You do swear that you will not, upon any account, or at any time whatsoever, disclose or discover the vote or opinion of any particular member of the court-martial, unless required to give evidence thereof as a witness by a court of justice in a due course of law, and that you will not divulge the sentence of this court until the same shall be approved or disapproved, pursuant to the act, entitled " An act to organize the militia of this state : " So help you God." And it shall and may be lawful for the president of such court, after he shall have received notice of his appointment, and he is hereby required on application, to issue his precept directed to any witness to be summoned, commanding his attendance at the time and place appointed for such court to sit, to give evidence in behalf of the people of this state, or for the person or persons to be tried (as the case may be) and any witness being and making default, shall incur the like fines and forfeitures, as are inflicted on witnesses for their default in not attending justices courts, by the " Act for the more speedy recovery of debts to the amount of twenty-five dollars : " And the president of any such court-martial shall be and is hereby empowered to administer the usual oath to such witnesses as shall come to give evidence to such court during the time he shall be president thereof : And that if any officer shall be arrested by virtue of this act, the charge shall be particularly set forth in writing, and signed by the arresting officer, a copy whereof shall be delivered to such officer so arrested, or left at his usual place of abode, within three days after such arrest ; and the person so arrested shall not be held to answer to any matter whatever, not set forth in such charge : That every commissioned officer who shall be convicted by a general court martial of having refused or neglected to perform any of the duties of his office, shall be punished according to the nature and degree of his offence, at the discretion of the said court, either by fine or removal from office : Provided no fine shall exceed twenty-five dollars for the first offence, or one hundred and twenty-five dollars for any subsequent offence.

36. And be it further enacted, That a regimental court-martial shall consist of not less than three nor more than five commissioned officers : The president of each court-martial shall, before the said court proceeds on the duties assigned them, administer to each member, and each member is hereby directed to take the following oath : " You do swear, that you will well and truly try and determine, according to evidence, the matter now depending between the people of the state of New-York and the person and persons to be tried ; and you do further swear, that you will not, upon any account, at any time whatsoever, disclose or discover the vote or opinion of any particular member of the said court, unless required to give evidence thereof by a court of justice in a due course of law." Which oath shall be taken by the president of the said courts-martial before he enters upon the duties of his office, for which purpose he shall appear before one of the justices of the peace of the said county where he resides, which justice is hereby required to administer the aforesaid oath to such president, without receiving any fee or reward for the same; and the said regimental courts-martial shall from time to time convene at such place and at such times as the commanding officer of the regiment shall direct: to the president of each of which courts-martial all returns of delinquencies from the said regiment shall be made; which president shall direct the delinquents on a day and at a place certain, to be summoned to appear before the said court, and to shew cause why the fines incurred by them should not be levied; and it shall be in the discretion of such court to cause the fines either to be levied in the whole, or mitigated or remitted in their discretion; and the president of each of the said regimental courts-martial shall have the like power as the president of other the courts-martial as aforesaid, relative to sending for witnesses, administering to them the usual oaths; and the same penalty shall be incurred by witnesses for their non-attendance.

37. And be it further enacted, That the proceedings and sentence of every court-martial by which an officer shall be tried, shall be in writing, signed by the president thereof, and shall by him be delivered to the officer ordering such court-martial; and that all decisions of every such court-martial for the trial of officers, shall be approved or disapproved by the officer ordering the same, with a right of appeal only by any person who may conceive himself aggrieved to the commander in chief: Provided always, that it shall be the duty of the officer directed by law to order any court-martial for the trial of officers, to order the same within thirty days after receiving a copy of the arrest and charges on which any arrest is made, and within fifteen days after the decision of any court-martial, shall approve or disapprove of the same in orders : And provided further, that no sentence of courts-martial on a general officer shall go further than removal from office.

38. And be it further enacted, That every non-commissioned officer who shall neglect or refuse to warn the men to appear at any rendezvous mentioned in this act, when hereunto required by his captain or commanding officer, without sufficient excuse, or shall neglect or refuse so to summon any delinquent in the company to which he belongs, to appear before any court-martial when thereunto required by a summons from the president thereof, or shall neglect to return any such summons in his own proper person before such court-martial, without having sufficient excuse, he shall forfeit the sum of five dollars for every such neglect or refusal, to be imposed, levied and collected as fines for other delinquencies.

39. And be it further enacted, That as often as it shall happen that any non-commissioned officer or private shall be absent when any non-commissioned officer shall call to warn him to appear to any rendezvous, a notice in writing, signed by such non-commissioned officer and left with some person of suitable age and discretion at the usual place of his abode, shall be deemed a sufficient warning.

40. And be it further enacted, That every non-commissioned officer to whom any warrant or order from his superior officer shall be directed and delivered, for warning any non-commissioned officer or private, he shall, when he has executed the same, endorse on the back thereof a return, setting forth the names of such as he hath warned in pursuance of it, and shall make oath to the truth of such return before the captain or commanding officer of the company to which he belongs, who is hereby authorized and directed to administer such oaths, and certify the same on such warrant, and deliver it, together with his return of delinquents, to the president of the court-martial, and such return so sworn to and certified, shall be sufficient evidence to prove such warning.

41. And be it further enacted, That every non-commissioned officer or private who shall neglect to appear when warned in pursuance of this act, without sufficient excuse, shall, for every day he neglects to appear at the regimental or battalion rendezvous, forfeit the sum of two dollars, and for every day he neglects to appear at the company parade, forfeit the sum of one dollar; and if he shall not be armed or equipped according to the directions of this act when so appearing, without sufficient excuse, he shall for every deficiency forfeit the sum of twelve and an half cents, and appearing without a musket, the sum of fifty cents: Provided always, that none of the fines aforesaid, or any other arising from offences in a regiment or company thereof, any company of artillery or troop of horse, other than for disobedience of orders under arms, shall be levied on any delinquent until he shall have been summoned to appear before a regimental court-martial, that he may shew cause why such fine should not be levied.

42. And be it further enacted, That every troop of horse and every company of artillery attached to any one of the divisions of this state, shall be considered as attached to the regiment within the bounds of which the commandant of such troop of horse or company of artillery shall reside, for the purpose of imposing, levying and collecting fines for delinquencies; and it shall be the duty of the captain or commanding officer of every such troop of horse or company of artillery, to make a return of all delinquents in their respective companies, in the same manner as the captains or commanding officers of infantry are directed by law, to the president of the court-martial in such regiment ordered to investigate the excuses, and impose the fines on delinquents on the same, and the authority and decision of every such court-martial shall extend to such troop of horse and company of artillery as fully as it does to the infantry of such regiment.

43. And be it further enacted, That all fines which shall be imposed by any regimental court-martial on delinquents, shall be collected in the following manner : The president of every such court-martial shall make a list of all the persons fined, designating the company to which they belong, and the sums imposed as fines on each person, and draw his warrant under his hand and seal, directed to any marshal or constable of any city or county (as the case may be) thereby commanding such marshal or constable to levy such fine or fines, together with his costs, of the goods and chattels of such delinquent ; and if any such delinquent shall be under age, and live with his father or mother, master or mistress, thereby commanding him to levy the same with costs aforesaid, of the goods and chattels of such father or mother, master or mistress, as the case may be ; and every such marshal or constable to whom any such list and warrant as aforesaid shall be directed and delivered, shall execute the same by levying and collecting the said fines as aforesaid, and shall make return thereof within forty days from the receipt of such warrant, to the president who issued the same ; and such marshal or constable shall be entitled to the same fees for collecting the said fines, and subject to the same penalties for any neglect, as are allowed and provided for on executions issued in pursuance of the act entitled "An act for the more speedy recovery of debts to the value of twenty-five dollars."

44. And be it further enacted, That all fines imposed upon any commissioned officer by any court-martial, other than regimental courts-martial, shall be levied and collected by warrant under the hand and seal of the officer having instituted the court-martial, or in his absence by the commanding officer of the division, if such court-martial was formed from the division, or by the commanding officer of the brigade, if such court-martial was formed from the brigade, directed to any one adjutant of the brigade, or person acting as such, to which the officer on whom such fine is imposed may belong, in like manner as fines are to be recovered as aforesaid, of non-commissioned officers and privates.

45. And be it further enacted, That each brigade inspector shall be entitled to receive fifty dollars per annum out of the fines collected within the brigade, and that the president and each member of every regimental court-martial, while on that duty, shall retain out of the fines collected as aforesaid on delinquents in such regiment, the sum of one dollar and twenty-five cents per day, if a sufficiency shall be collected, and the president of such court is hereby authorized to make such allowance to the non-commissioned officers attending the said court, as a compensation for their services, as shall be reasonable.

46. And be it further enacted, That all fines collected under this act, and not herein otherwise appropriated, shall be paid to the commandant of the regiment or battalion, to be by him appropriated in such manner, for the use of said regiment or battalion, as he shall think proper: Provided always, That such commandant shall pay to the brigade-major of the brigade to which such regiment or battalion belongs, his proportion of the sum of fifty dollars allowed him as aforesaid out of the fines so collected, which apportionment shall be determined according to the number of regiments, battalions, troops and companies in such brigade: And provided also, that the said commandant shall pay to the captain or commanding officer of any troop of horse or company of artillery, such proportion of money as shall remain in his hands of fines collected from such troops or companies, to be by him appropriated in such manner as he shall think proper for the use of such troop or company; and it shall be the duty of all commandants of regiments and battalions, and captains or commanding officer of troops of horse or companies of artillery, to produce an account of all receipts and expenditures under this act, to the brigadier or commanding officer of the brigade annually, on the first Tuesday in May in every year.

47. And be it further enacted, That in addition to persons exempted from militia duty by the law of the United States herein before recited, there shall be and hereby are exempted by this act from such duty as aforesaid, the following persons, viz.—The lieutenant-governor of this state, the members of both houses of the legislature of this state, and their respective officers, the chancellor, the chief justice, and other justices of the supreme court, judge of the court of probates, and all other judicial officers of this state, secretary, treasurer, attorney-general, and comptroller for this state, surveyor-general, register, and clerks of courts, sheriffs, coroners, constables, and gaolers, two ferry-men employed to each boat, the surrogates in the several counties, all ministers and preachers of the gospel, physicians and surgeons, except in their several professions and callings, the professors, teachers and students in all colleges and academies within this state, all school-masters engaged for at least three months, all post-riders, the actual attendant of every grist-mill, and all firemen belonging to companies now established or which hereafter may be established by law within this state; and also all persons actually employed as overseers, manufacturers and laborers at any furnance, forge or bloomery for making iron, all such persons so employed in plating, rolling and slitting mills and manufacturing nails by water, all such persons so employed at any furnace or making iron castings, all such persons so employed at any glass house for making glass during the time they are so actually employed, notwithstanding their being above eighteen and under forty-five years of age. And further, that all persons who have heretofore been commissioned officers in the line of the army of the United States, and all officers who have served in the militia or levies of this state, or in the militia or levies of any of the United States, or in the militia or levies of the late colony of New-York, shall be and hereby are exempted from serving in the militia of this state : Provided nevertheless, That if any such officer shall be commissioned in the militia to rank equal to that which he held in the said army, militia or levies, and shall refuse to accept such commission, such officer so refusing, without giving satisfactory reason to the council of appointment for such refusal, shall be liable to serve in the militia : And provided also, that this exception shall not extend to any such persons, being officers, who have gone over to and joined the enemy in the late war : Provided also, that no commissioned officer shall resign his commission, without first making application to the major-general or commanding officer of the division to which he belongs, and stating his reasons in writing for the same, which resignation and reasons shall be transmitted by the said commanding officer to the commander in chief of the militia of this state, together with his opinion thereon ; and in case any officer sends his resignation to the commander in chief, and the same be accepted by the council of appointment, without having pursued the mode herein prescribed, such officer shall be liable to do duty in the militia as a private.

48. And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of the several assessors within the city and county of New-York, whenever they have assessed the property of any non-commissioned officer or private belonging to the regiment of artillery in the said city and county, or property for which he is bound to pay the taxes, for the purpose of levying a tax to defray the contingent expences of the said city and county, upon his producing such certificate, to deduct from such assessment the sum of five hundred dollars, and the residue only shall be the sum for which he shall be assessed.

49. And be it further enacted, That any non-commissioned officer or matross of the said regiment of artillery in the city and county of New-York, who has uniformed himself and served four years in the said regiment after the twenty-seventh day of August, one thousand seven hundred and ninety-eight, shall be entitled to a certificate signed by the captain and countersigned by the commandant of the regiment, purporting that he has served in uniform faithfully as above for the term of four years, which certificate shall exempt him from military duty in this state for life, except in cases of invasion or insurrection.

50. And be it further enacted, That all persons, being of the people called Quakers, who would otherwise be subject to military duty by virtue of this act, and who shall refuse personal military service, shall be exempted therefrom on paying annually the sum of three dollars each for such exemption : And it is hereby made the duty of every captain of infantry within three months after he shall have received his commission, and yearly thereafter, on the last Tuesday in May, to make a list of the names of all persons within his beat, who, being of the people called Quakers, shall neglect or refuse personally to perform military service, and deliver such list, signed by him, to one of the assessors of the town or ward where such persons so neglecting or refusing to perform military service shall respectively reside, and the said assessors shall deliver the same list to the board of supervisors of the county wherein they reside at the time that they deliver the assessment roll of the town or ward whereof they are assessors; and the said supervisors shall, at their first meeting after the delivery of such lists, cause tax lists to be made out according to such lists so delivered, with warrants thereon under their hands and seals, directed to the collector of the ward or town in which such persons named in such lists respectively reside, for levying within sixty days thereafter the sum of three dollars, of the goods and chattels of each of the persons named in the same lists; and the said collectors are hereby respectively authorized and required to demand and receive of each of the persons named in such tax list, the said sum of three dollars; and in default of payment, such collector shall levy the said sum of three dollars by distress and sale of the goods and chattels of the person so neglecting or refusing to pay the same; and in case any person named in such tax list shall be under age, and live with his father or mother, or shall be then an apprentice or servant, the master or mistress, father or mother, (as the case may be) shall be liable to pay the said sum of three dollars for such person so under age; and in default of payment, the collector shall levy the same by distress and sale of the goods and chattels of such father or mother, master or mistress; and the said respective collectors shall respectively pay, within twenty days after the said monies shall be so collected, the said monies to the person appointed by the brigadier-general for receiving the same within the limits of the brigade, first deducting their fees for collecting, which shall be the same as they are entitled to for collecting the monies raised for defraying the necessary and contingent charges of the said city or county; and the person so receiving the said exemption monies, shall, on or before the first Monday of March in every year, pay the same to the brigadier-general, who shall cause the same to be equally distributed among the captains, or officers commanding companies of uniform troops, within the limits of his brigade, to be by them respectively applied in furnishing necessary equipments, music and clothing for their respective companies; and if the said collectors shall not collect and pay the same monies as aforesaid, within the times to be specified for that purpose in the warrants aforesaid, they shall respectively be liable to a suit in the name of the person so to be appointed to receive the monies from the brigadier-general, before any court having cognizance thereof, for the recovery of all the monies so unpaid, with costs, unless they can shew that there were no goods or chattels on which to levy the same; and it shall be the duty of the brigadier-general to account annually with the comptroller of this state for all monies by him received under this act.

51. And be it further enacted, That the person administering the government of this state shall, by and with the advice and consent of the council of appointment, appoint, as often as it shall be requisite, suitable persons to take charge of the ammunition, cannon and military stores, belonging at any time to the people of this state, and shall cause the same to be distributed or deposited in such place or places as he shall from time to time direct; and that the treasurer of this state shall pay, on the warrant of the comptroller, to the commissary of military stores, for his service in the said office, at the rate of two hundred dollars per annum ; and to the deputy commissary of military stores, for his services in taking care of the arsenal near the city of Albany, and the military stores that may be deposited therein, for his services yearly, the sum of one hundred dollars.

AN ACT to amend the Act entitled " An act to Organize the Militia of this State." Passed April 5th, 1802.

1. BE it enacted by the people of the State of New-York, represented in Senate and Assembly, That in addition to the duties now required by law of the adjutant-general of this state, it shall be the duty of the said adjutant-general, to furnish, at the expence of the state, the commandants of regiments and companies, through the brigadier-generals, the militia law of this state, and for that purpose the secretary of this state is hereby required to have printed, under his direction, as many copies as may be necessary of the said law, and deliver them to the said adjutant-general, as soon as may be after the passing of this act ; and that the said adjutant-general, may in his discretion attend as heretofore the review and inspection of any regiment or corps, any thing in this act contained to the contrary thereof in anywise notwithstanding.

2. And be it further enacted, That the said adjutant-general, for his said services, shall have and receive an annual salary of eight hundred dollars, which shall be paid to him by the treasurer of this state, on the warrant of the comptroller thereof, in quarter-yearly payments, which warrant the comptroller is hereby directed to issue.

3. And be it further enacted, That in case any brigade inspector, shall wilfully neglect or omit to perform the duties required of him by law, he shall for every such offence forfeit and pay twenty-five dollars, to be recovered in like manner as the other penalties are by this act recoverable ; and that in case the brigade inspector is, from any unavoidable circumstance, prevented from doing his duty, the brigadier-general may select a proper officer from his brigade to do that duty, who shall be entitled to receive such compensation therefor, as the brigadier shall deem adequate, to be deducted from the allowance made by law to such inspector.

4. And be it further enacted, That all officers who shall or may refuse or neglect to make just returns, as by law directed, of all delinquents, or shall neglect to refuse to make a return of the people called Quakers within their respective beats, agreeably to the thirty-ninth section of the act hereby amended, shall be cashiered or fined not less than twenty dollars, nor more than fifty dollars.

5: And be it further enacted, That if any spectator or bystander, shall abuse, molest or strike any one when on parade or under arms, the person so offending shall be immediately put under guard, kept at the discretion of the commandant of the regiment, company or corps, until the setting of the sun of the same day on which such offence shall be committed.

6. And be it further enacted, That persons actually engaged and employed in the coasting trade for six months in the year, shall be exempted from military service, during such employ, in like manner as mariners are by law excepted and exempted.

7. And be it further enacted, That the fine for delinquency for non-attendance on parade may be increased so as not to exceed five dollars : And further, that any non-commissioned officer, who shall neglect or refuse to warn the company to parade in the beat to which he belongs, when thereunto required by his captain or commanding officer, shall pay a fine not exceeding fifteen dollars.

8. And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of all officers to furnish themselves with their uniforms and side arms, as by law directed, within six months after the passing of this act, or if hereafter appointed, within six months after the receipt of their commission, and that in default thereof, every such officer shall forfeit and pay a fine of twenty-five dollars; and it shall be the duty of the brigade inspectors, and they are hereby required to make particular returns of such delinquents to the commander in chief, stating the name, grade and rank of every such delinquent.

9. And be it further enacted, That cocked hats, with the cockade of the army of the United States, shall be part of the uniform of all the officers of the militia of this state, except where otherwise directed.

10. And be it further enacted, That all resignations hereafter to be made, shall be approved of by the commandants of regiments, and the brigadier-general of the regiment or brigade to which the officer so resigning belongs; and that it shall be the duty of such commandants and brigadiers to receive or approve of no resignation whatever, but upon good and sufficient and reasonable causes and excuses.

11. And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of the adjutants in the respective regiments to which they severally belong, to prepare an abstract or lists of the several fines and penalties by law created, as far forth as respects the militia of this state, and read the same at the head of the regiment at every regimental parade; and it shall be the duty of the several commandants of companies and corps in like manner to do the same at each company parade.

12. And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of the respective commandants of regiments, with the advice and approbation of the brigadier-general, and they are hereby authorized, from time to time, to arrange, form, direct and fix the beats of companies, and to divide and annex companies as occasion shall or may require, if, in their opinion, such junction shall be practicable and proper.

13. And be it further enacted, That in case fines are not collected sufficient for the payment of the sum by law allowed to the brigade inspectors, it shall be the duty of the brigadier-general, after having ascertained the deficiency in the premises, to certify such deficiency to the comptroller of this state, who shall thereupon draw his warrant in favour of such inspector on the treasurer for such sum, which sum the said treasurer is hereby required to pay.

14. And be it further enacted, That all fines created by this act shall be imposed, prosecuted for and recovered in like manner as fines are directed to be imposed, prosecuted for and recovered in and by the act hereby amended.

15. And be it further enacted, That it shall and may be lawful for the commander in chief, whenever he shall deem it expedient, to organize a second regiment of artillery in the city and county of New-York, agreeably to the sixth section of the act hereby amended.

16. And be it further enacted, That the comptroller of this state shall audit the account of the adjutant-general, for the postage of official letters received by him quarter-yearly, and the amount thereof shall be paid by the treasurer of this state, on the warrant of the comptroller.

AN ACT supplementary to an Act to amend an Act entitled "An act to Organize the Militia of this State." Passed the 5th April, 1803.

1. BE it enacted by the people of the State of New-York, represented in Senate and Assembly, That the brigadiers-general and commandants of brigades shall attend the annual reviews and inspections of the different regiments and corps belonging to or attached to their respective brigades; and it shall be their duty to give such orders from time to time as shall appear to them best calculated to introduce the system of military discipline established by law, and for improvement in military exercise and manœuvres; and that the brigadiers-general and commandants of brigades, whenever by the orders of the commander in chief, it shall be submitted to their discretion to appoint the days for the annual reviews and inspections of their brigades, shall give timely notice thereof to the major-general of the division, to the end that he may have an opportunity of reviewing a part of his division every year.

2. And be it further enacted, That officers commanding regiments and battalions shall make returns in due form of their respective corps to the brigadiers-general, or officers commanding brigades to which they belong, within one month after the annual review and inspection, together with a return stating the vacancies and other casualties in said corps respectively, and mentioning in said return the names of the persons who are entitled to promotion in consequence of such vacancies: And the brigadier-general, or officer commanding a brigade, shall, from such returns last mentioned, form a brigade return, and transmit the same to the commander in chief on or before the first day of February in every year, and shall annually, as soon after the annual review and inspection as can conveniently be done, make a brigade return to the major-general of the division.

3. And be it further enacted, That no resignation of any commissioned officer, shall be considered as finally accepted, till approved of by the commander in chief.

4. And be it further enacted; That when complaint is made by a commissioned officer, in writing, against any officer of the militia for improper conduct, which is degrading to the office which he holds, the commander in chief shall be authorized to appoint courts of enquiry, to consist of not less than three or more than five officers, to investigate the conduct of said officer or officers so complained of; and the president of said court shall have the same power to summons witnesses and administer oaths, that presidents of courts-martial have; and in such case the facts shall be by said president reported to the commander in chief.

5. And be it further enacted, That blank returns, in such form as the commander in chief shall direct, shall be furnished by the adjutant-general, at the expence of the state, to brigadiers-general or commandants of brigades, to be by them distributed to their respective colonels or commandants of regiments, battalions, and commandants of companies within their brigades.

6. And be it further enacted, That general and field officers to be appointed to the artillery and cavalry, shall be in proportion as nearly as may be to the number they consist of; and that in arranging the militia the commander in chief shall so dispose of them as to conform the different corps as nearly as may be to the organization established by the United States, or which may be established; but nothing in this act contained is to affect the rank of officers heretofore appointed, although by such arrangements they should become supernumerary.

7. And be it further enacted, That the monies ordered to be paid to the brigadier-general by the thirty-ninth section of said act hereby amended, shall be applied to pay the brigade-major, and to furnish drums, fies and other instruments of music, ordered by law to be used by the different corps within said brigade, where deficiencies arise, for said purposes, to make up such deficiencies after the monies are expended which are by law appropriated for said purposes, and the remainder shall be paid into the treasury of the state; that the monies heretofore raised by said thirty-ninth section, and not applied by said brigadiers-general, shall be appropriated as by this act is directed.

8. And be it further enacted, That it shall be lawful for the commander in chief, whenever he shall deem it necessary, by general orders, to direct the appointment of boards of officers, to ascertain rank.
